NATHAN WAS GAY

Had a Week's Carousal In Lowell

SHOWED NO SIGNS OF SORROW

At Disappearance of Miss Geary

How could Morris Nathan have been so playful and light-hearted during his stay in Lowell when he knew that the girl whom he loved and had promised to marry was undergoing an operation that made even the chances of life or death?

Those whose hearts he won by his cheerful ways during his stay in Lowell, are asking that question today. Those who met him and associated with him during the week that "The Shepherd King" held the boards in a local theatre, are loath to believe that he knew of the girl's condition or that he was aware of the fact that she contemplated having an operation performed.

According to the stories told by those who met him every day not an hour passed that Morris Nathan was not making merry in some way and all was innocent pleasure. He played the piano, sang, danced, whistled, told witty stories and made things pleasant for everyone with whom he came in contact.

The story of how he conducted himself at the Central house in Tyler street where he stopped during his stay in Lowell, has already appeared in The Sun, and Mrs. Blumberg, who conducts the house added to the importance of the story today by stating that Morris Nathan did not miss a meal at her house from Sunday, Sept. 10, the day on which the company arrived in Lowell, until the company left on Monday morning, Sept. 18.

Mrs. Blumberg and others in the Central house, in conversation with The Sun reporter today, put a quietus on the report that Nathan had been seen in the Billerica woods with another man on Sunday evening, Sept. 10. They declare that o nthat evening and on every other evening during the week that he was in Lowell, Nathan remained at home, and, as Mrs. Blumberg put it, he was so good an entertainer that the house seemed lost without him.

"He was like a boy just out of school," said Mrs. Blumberg. "He did not seem to have a care in the wide world and he was just as gentlemanly as he could be. He made things pleasant for everybody with whom he came in contact and he was generous to a fault. It does not seem that he could have been so light-hearted and so jolly had he known that his sweetheart was hovering between life and death.

"I did not know that he was engaged to Susan Geary until I read it in the papers. I believe that he said something about seeing her on the car on the Saturday night before he came to Lowell. A nicer young man than Morris Nathan never entered this house and I am sorry for him. His good nature was not put on, it was natural; he was bubbling over with it, and any one with a disposition like that if they had trouble they would show it.

"The last Sunday night he was here he took my little daughter May and Kimeo, Wright Lorimer's servant, to the Academy of Music to see the moving pictures. There was nothing selfish about Morris Nathan. He was forever trying to do something to make others happy."

Nathan was just as popular with the chorus girls as he was with those he met at the boarding house. It was said that he was especially "chummy" with Rita Marle, but that statement, too, was wet blanketed by Mrs. Blumberg and others with whom The Sun reporter talked at the Central house today. They said he was friendly with them all, but that so far as they knew he did not play favorites. Others, however, declare that Nathan and Rita Marle were in the habit of having heart-to-heart talks and that they often talked for an hour at a time in the street.

Nathan, besides acting as secretary to the manager and looking after baggage, sold books of the play, passing them around through the audience, and after each sale it was noticed that he would show his money to Rita Marle, evidently reporting the amount of his sales to her. There are none however, who will say that the actions of the pair were in any way improper. They seemed to be fast friends, that was all.

Often times behind the scenes and before and after the performance Nathan would dance with the chorus girls. If a girl seemed to be out of sorts Nathan would bend his efforts to brighten things for her, and it is said of him that he seldom failed. He was not a very brilliant fellow but a cheerful companion.

Frederick B. Emerson met Nathan every day during the latter's stay in

Nathan selling books of the Shepherd King at the theatre.

Lowell. Speaking of Nathan, Emerson said:

"I had occasion to see him many times every day of the week the 'Shepherd King' company was in town. He was just breaking into the theatrical business, and was a sort of messenger boy for the traveling manager, B. A. Reinold. Mr. Reinold thought a great deal of Nathan, often remarking on his brightness, and he frequently said that the boy would 'make good' in the theatrical business.

If Nathan knew that Susan Geary, his betrothed was in trouble and acted as he did while here, it only showed that he cared nothing for her. If he was the cause of her trouble the fact proved him doubly consciousless and hard hearted.

Late yesterday afternoon it was reported that the missing head of Susan Geary had been buried in the woods between the Centre and North Billerica. The report stirred the police of Billerica and they searched the woods until midnight in company with a couple of newspapermen who lent a susceptible ear to the story.

Another report was to the effect that Nathan while in Lowell received a special delivery letter from Boston after the "Shepherd King" company reached Lowell. It was discovered, however, that the letter was directed to the leading actor of the company.

SUPERIOR COURT

Another Damage Suit On Trial Today

The case of John J. Newell against the Inhabitants of the Town of Billerica, and Newell against the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, were called for trial this morning at the opening of the civil session of the superior court, Judge Holmes presiding, now sitting at the local court house. The ad damnum named in each case is $10,000. Mr. Forrest Collier appears for the plaintiff while the town is represented by Mr. Frederick H. Fisher and the railroad by Richardsons Trull & Wier.

Both cases come as the result of an accident which happened in Billerica on Feb. 14th of this year. The plaintiff, according to the declaration, was in the employ of the town at the time, and had been for a number of years previous, and on this day, was driving a six-horse road scraper, clearing the snow from the streets, which had been piled up by the snow plow operating on the electric railway. That while in the exercise of due care and in the performance of his duty an electric car struck some part of the plow, threw him off, his back striking the blade of the plow, and as a result of the accident suffered serious injury and was put to considerable expense for medicine and medical aid as well as loss of employment.

The plaintiff claims that the servants of the railroad were not in the exercise of due care; neither was a servant of the town who was on the scraper at the time and was in charge, also that there was a defect in the scraper.

The jury then adjourned to the court yard where an inspection of the scraper was made.

The first witness called was John J. Newell, the plaintiff, who testified in part as follows:

"I reside at 41 Bartlett street, Lowell, having been there about two months. On the day of the accident, Feb. 14, of this year, I was in the employ of the town of Billerica. I was in the employ of the town about 12 years." Witness then went on to tell his experience with horses, driving single horses, pairs, four, six and eight horses. Continuing, he said: "I drove the road scraper for several years. There were six horses on the machine. It was a very cold morning and I wore a fur-skin vest and coat and fur overcoat, a scotch cap and felt shoes. The roadway was icy in some places while it was soft in other places. I was breaking the ridge of snow thrown out by the snow plow. The snow sloped down towards the track.

"We started out at 6.30 o'clock and it was 9 o'clock when the accident happened. Some times when a heavy pressure was brought to bear on the knife, the scraper would slew. Charlie Morris was on the rear end of the scraper. He told where me to go and told me when to 'gee' and 'haw'. Sometimes I have operated the machine while Morris drove the horses, but I generally drove the horses and he worked the machine.

"Coming over the Fordway bridge that morning the scraper began to slew. I was keeping the horses as much to the left as possible so as to keep out of the car tracks. Just after I got off the bridge the car struck the scraper. I do not know what part of the car struck the scraper.

DEATHS

FIELDING—Mr. Henry A. Fielding died very suddenly at his home in Bozeman, Mont., Sunday night. He was born in Torrington, Conn., Feb. 19, 1828. He was brought to Lowell while a child in 1832 and when he left school was first employed by Chase & Sargent, tailors. He then entered the firm of J. B. Fielding & Co., paints, paper hanging, etc., and subsequently formed a copartnership with George H. Bartlett under the firm name of Fielding & Bartlett, which was the predecessor in the successful hardware business of the present firm of Bartlett & Dow.

Mr. Fielding went to Montana about 20 years ago and has since lived there. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Sarah A. Harris and Miss Philena J. Fielding of this city, and a son, Mr. Fred A. Fielding of Bozeman.

MAYNES—Bridget Maynes, aged 40 years, died yesterday afternoon at the city hospital. She is survived by one brother and one sister, both of Boston. The remains were taken to the chapel of J. F. O'Donnell & Sons.

FUNERALS

STOUGHTON—The funeral of Carrie L., wife of Eugene E. Stoughton, was held at her late residence, 37 Midland street, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Sarah Dixon, assistant pastor of the First Trinitarian Congregational church, assisted by Rev. A. E. Kenyon, officiated. Miss Dixon having been a member of Mr. Stoughton's household for several years, she spoke from a very intimate acquaintance of the deceased's moral worth and Christian character. Mrs. George E. Burns and Mrs. Charles Jenkins sang "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me" and "Sleep on, Beloved." The bearers were E. F. Blodgett, C. W. Johnson, Charles Hazeltine and John Hoar. WAITING FOR NATHAN

Police Searching for Doctors in Geary Murder

MRS. CATHERINE GEARY, MOTHER OF THE MURDERED GIRL.

They Do Not Expect Nathan Before Friday—He May Cast New Light Upon the Case—Boston Woman and Two Doctors Are Sought, But No Arrests as Yet—More Letters From Mrs. Geary

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The work of the police on the suit case mystery having occupied the time far into the night, there was a period of quiet at headquarters early today.

Chief Watts and Superintendent Pierce did not appear until after 9 o'clock. Officers in touch with the case said that the case stood where it did last night.

"Do you expect to make an arrest today?" was asked.

"It is impossible to tell at this time," was the answer.

The police admit that they could readily make an arrest here if either of the two physicians whom they want could be found in the city. The question of making an arrest in another state, however, on the evidence in hand, it is understood is a delicate one and is receiving careful attention from the heads of the police department.

While Mrs. Geary, mother of Susan Geary, the victim of the tragedy, in the two exhaustive examinations to which she was subjected by the police yesterday, gave many important facts, it is understood that the authorities are impatient to get Morris Nathan, the girl's betrothed, here from Pittsburg, where he is under police detention at the request of the Boston department. Even if Nathan, whose admissions to the Pittsburg police have been of greatest value in bringing the case to its present standing, adheres to his consent to return to Boston without extradition, it is thought to be unlikely that Inspector McGarr and State Officer Smith, who left for Pittsburg yesterday, can get back here with him before Friday or Saturday.

Captain Dugan, assistant to Chief Inspector Watts, said this morning:

"I have not the slightest idea when to expect Nathan."

When asked for a word on the status of the case, Captain Dugan said:

"There are no new developments."

At 10.30 today Supt. Pierce said, he had not heard from Inspector McGarr who left here yesterday for Pittsburg, Pa., in connection with the case and possibly to bring Nathan back to Boston. The superintendent learned, however, that the inspector had arrived at Pittsburg at 6.30 o'clock this morning. At police headquarters the opinion prevailed that Nathan is very anxious to be near his family and it is thought that this will influence the young man strongly in his decision as to returning.

NATHAN HELD

BELIEVED HE CAN TELL MORE ABOUT THE CRIME.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—It is the firm conviction of everyone who is in touch with the case that, while a charge of murder has been lodged against Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of "The Shepherd King" company in connection with the Winthrop suit case mystery, he is not the principal in the affair and is held because it is believed he can throw more light on the crime than anyone else.

That the police have a complete story from Nathan telling all he knows and suspects, is not denied but, aside from a few statements that have leaked out concerning the examination, the authorities refuse to disclose the information obtained until after the arrival of the Boston officers.

The determination of whether Nathan will be requested to return to Boston is also postponed pending these officers' arrival. It is known that Nathan admitted to Superintendent of Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide and Superintendent of Police Alexander Wallace that he was intimate with Miss Geary and in his statement he implicated a woman, who, he says, conducted a maternity home in Tremont street, Boston. The Boston police were immediately notified by McQuaide and they started out in search of the woman.

When they have arrested the woman who conducted the place where Miss Geary went for treatment, the police believe that the mystery would be cleared and the people to blame for the murder of the girl brought to trial.

Nathan stated to the police officials that he was not aware of the girl's condition. He declared that they were to have been married. He said he overheard a conversation between Miss Geary and two girls who were appearing at the Parks in Hartford in which one of the girls advised Miss Geary to go to the Tremont street house for treatment. Nathan said he was not responsible for Miss Geary's going to a hospital.

That the crime was done by a woman is the belief of the police officials. No hardened criminal, they say, would have disposed of the body by cutting it up and packing it in a suit case and then allowing the case to float.

Furthermore the leaving of the rings on the fingers is an indication that the crime was committed by a person unaccustomed to crime. The rings were the tell-tale marks. The authorities appear to believe that Nathan was unaware of the murder of the girl and that he had no part in that crime, but they seem to think he is responsible for her receiving treatment.

Nathan is in a very bad condition physically. For weeks he has been suffering mental anguish. He is on the verge of collapse and as he has done his part toward clearing up the mystery, is being shown every consideration. Kimeo, his Japanese friend, director of public safety Harry Moore, Manager B. A. Reinold and Stage Director Samuel Forrest visited Nathan yesterday afternoon. Attorney Charles Johnson, Pittsburg attorney for the Nixon-Zimmerman company is acting as Nathan's legal adviser, in conjunction with Attorney Burleigh.

Kimeo said yesterday that for two weeks Nathan has been worrying over the disappearance of Miss Geary. He suspected from the very time of the finding of the parts of a woman's body in the Charles river that the body was

CASE DISMISSED

Simeon Legasse Cleared of Two Charges

The case of Simeon Legasse, charged with larceny and fraudulently obtaining a signature to a discharge of a mortgage, was resumed in police court this morning, the defence being put in today.

The defendant, Simeon Legasse, was the first witness and he testified that he had lived in Lowell since 1883. He had a family "of only seven children," he said.

Speaking of his methods of doing business he said: "I had an agreement with the Hildreth heirs whereby I had a right to build on any of their land. When the building was partially along I would borrow money on it and would then take up the deed on the land. This work has been going on four years on that basis and in that manner I have bought 70 lots. I have done business in that manner with Hiram Whitney, the John Boyle estate and the Washington bank and Mr. Manning. On Dec. 13, 1904, I went to Mr. Manning about the house in Dalton street. The house was about two-thirds finished.

"I asked Mr. Manning for a loan of $10,000. Mr. Manning looked at the house and said he didn't have the amount of money I wished. At this same time I was building a cottage which other parties wanted to buy; but I wouldn't sell as I wanted to include it in the other mortgage. I got the deed and presented it to Mr. Rivet. Later Mr. Rivet said the loan papers were ready and I signed the mortgage and note supposing they were written for $2440, the amount I needed in order to secure the deed. I left the papers with Mr. Rivet without looking at them as there was no money coming to me, the extra money going for the land. When Mr. Hamel told me that the mortgage was only for $1650, and that the deed had not been taken out I told him that it must have been a mistake and I looked up the deed. Then I found that the mortgage was for only $1650 instead of $2440. I then went up to Mr. Hamel and offered to pay off the mortgage held by Mr. Manning, but Mr. Hamel saw fit to get a warrant out for my arrest. In all other cases the man granting the mortgage issued the additional money to square the indebtedness for the land. There is no other mortgage out on the house. I have been ready to pay the mortgage since discovering the mistake."

"Are you ready to pay now?" interjected Mr. Harvey.

"I'm ready now," said Mr. Legasse.

"Will you pay us here in open court?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"Yes, if you'll acknowledge the mistake and dismiss the complaint," said Lawyer Hogan.

"We'll take the money and go no further," said Mr. Harvey.

"We'll proceed with the case," said Judge Hadley.

Mr. Harvey then cross-examined Mr. Legasse to show his previous occupation and the amount of money he had when starting in the real estate business. Mr. Legasse said that he had been a clerk for Cook & Taylor in the millinery business and in the coal and wood business. When he went into the real estate business he had $3000 which he kept at home in a drawer.

"Did you have that money when you went into bankruptcy?"

"I did not."

"Mr. Manning had a great deal of confidence in you, didn't he?"

"He did."

"When did you discover that Mr. Manning was lax in his methods?"

"When he sued me for $20,000."

"When you signed that mortgage you mean to tell his honor that you did not look it over?"

"I was hurried and placed confidence in Mr. Rivet."

"When you have raised money on a mortgage haven't you had the deed ready?"

"No."

"I borrowed $550 from Mr. Whitney and I signed the mortgage note without looking at it," added Mr. Legasse.

"At the time you signed that mortgage didn't you know what notes he was to give you credit on?"

"No, not until later."

"Didn't you tell him what notes you wanted credit on?"

"He asked me to tell him what notes."

"When you and Mr. Manning figured up the $1650, as the amount of the mortgage what was said?"

"I said that the whole amount was $2150 and he said 'all right.'"

"Why didn't you take the money left over and pay Mrs. Abbott for the land?"

"Because there was no money coming and I never took the money and paid for the land, they did that."

"Who did you think was going to pay it?"

"I relied on Mr. Manning or Mr. Rivet. That was the custom."

"Did you tell Mr. Manning to pay Mrs. Abbott?"

"Mr. Manning wasn't there. I signed the mortgage in Mr. Rivet's office and I supposed that he understood that he was to pay for the deed."

"Why didn't you take up that deed in your own name when you discovered your mistake?"

"I had a party who wanted to buy the property and by having the deed transferred I could raise the money to take up the mortgage."

"Give me the name and address of the party?"

"I can't just now, but I can get it for you."

"Did you get an assignment of a mortgage for $650 some months ago?"

"Yes."

"How much did you pay Mr. Manning?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

This question precipitated a lively discussion, Mr. Hogan objecting on the ground that the question deals with another matter, now involving a suit in another court. Mr. Harvey claimed that the question was not connected with the suit but was put in to show the intent of the defendant in a series of transactions, tending to dupe the complainant, the purpose being to show the defendant's intent in this particular transaction.

The discussion waxed hot and when the court finally admitted the question Mr. Hogan claimed that he was being unfairly treated and wanted to go on record as such. Mr. Harvey repeated the question and again Mr. Hogan objected and after another lengthy argument the question was abandoned.

"Did you ever offer to pay Mr. Manning that $650?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

"I offered the money to his counsel," replied Mr. Legasse.

"Will you pay us back now?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

"Yes sir," said Mr. Legasse.

"Give me the money," said Mr. Harvey, pushing out his hand.

"My counsel will give it to you," said Mr. Legasse.

"Where is it?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

Mr. Hogan quickly pulled out a certified check for $650 which he flashed in Mr. Harvey's face saying: "Now you've been making demands for the money, there it is. You may have it as soon as the defendant is found not guilty and discharged."

Then followed a consultation of Mr. Manning's lawyers with the result that the money was turned over and the complaints discharged.

SUIT CASES GONE

Shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Charles E. Hart of 204 Moore street, Lowell, reported to the police of Arlington that his two dress suit cases had been stolen from the rear platform of an electric car.

Hart left Lowell on the 3.50 p. m. car from this city over the Lexington & Boston street railway. When he boarded the car he placed two red leather dress suit cases on the rear platform. Then he went inside the car and sat down.

When the car reached Billerica a change of conductors and motormen is made and while the car was standing in the Centre awaiting the change, Hart looked into the rear vestibule to see if his suit cases were there. He found them to be safe and settled himself in his seat again.

At Arlington Centre he wished to transfer to a Cambridge car and when he went to the rear platform his suit cases were gone.

He at once informed the Arlington police, who notified the police of the towns through which the car passed.

The two cases contained nothing but wearing apparel. No one can be found who saw the suit cases being taken from the car.

ROYAL ARCANUM

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Justice Maddox, in the supreme court in Brooklyn yesterday, dissolved the injunction restraining the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum from suspending James Mock for refusing to pay his assessments according to the new rates, but the justice expressly stated that he did so only on the promise of counsel for both sides that they would bring the case to trial on November 20. Justice Maddox said he was actuated by a desire to protect the interests of the widows and orphans of the dead members, and declined a permanent injunction because it would have the effect of tying up the funds of the order.

WITTE IS PREMIER

Autocracy of the Romanoffs Is at an End

Emperor Nicholas Has Given Up at Last—Free Speech Will be Guaranteed to the Russian People--The Imperial Manifesto Issued This Evening

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30, 6.05 p. m.—Tonight the autocracy of the Romanoffs and the old order of things cease to exist in Russia. Emperor Nicholas has surrendered and Count Witte comes into power as minister president with an imperial mandate which will enable him to convert the farcical national assembly into a real legislative body elected by greatly extended suffrage and to confer upon the people fundamental civil liberties, including free speech. These welcome tidings reached St. Petersburg shortly before 6 o'clock this evening. Count Witte had spent the day with the emperor at Peterhof, going over the final draft of the manifesto to which he insisted that certain minor modifications be made and before taking the train for St. Petersburg he telephoned to a friend that the emperor had affixed his signature and that the imperial mandate comprising the conditions upon which he had agreed to accept office was in his pocket. These include freedom of the press, the right of assembly and the immunity of the person, including the right of habeas corpus.

TO RAID A BANK

Plan of Le Duc, the Alleged Murderer

BLOOMINGTON, Ills. Oct. 30—It was learned today that William LeDuc, who killed Mayor Nickel and Hugh B. Jones at Chenoga, Saturday, planned a raid on the bank with hopes to escape. He visited his mother's home Saturday and bade her farewell, saying that he intended to leave the country. LeDuc lost $200 in the settlement with his wife after she left him. The settlement was negotiated through Nickel, his brother-in-law and the result of the settlement is believed to have so preyed on LeDuc's mind that he hoped to recoup his loses through a raid on the bank and escape. The quick gathering of people on the streets spoiled his plans and he was forced to retreat to the vault.

He burned $100 in paper money in the vault but left the silver untouched.

SALEM LETTER

WAS NOT MAILED BY MISS GEARY.

SALEM, Mass., Oct. 30.—Although the last letter ever received by Mrs. Catherine Geary of Cambridge from her daughter Susan, who is believed to have been the victim of the Winthrop suit case tragedy was mailed in this city, Sept. 19, it has not yet been ascertained whether the young woman was in Salem on that date. The "Shepherd King" company was here from Sept. 18 to 20 and the name of "Ethel Durrell," by which the girl was known on the stage, appeared on the printed program. At the local theatre where the play was given, however, it is the belief that she was not with the company at that time. She did not register with the other members of the company at the Essex hotel where the company stayed while here, and the clerk of the hotel is positive she was not with the others.

The police now believe that while the letter bears the Salem post-mark it may have been written elsewhere and dropped in a box here as a blind.

RUMOR THAT HE WAS SEEN WITH STRANGE MAN HERE.

A clue is now being run down to the effect that Morris Nathan was seen in company with a strange man in suburbs of Lowell on the evening of Sept. 10.

ODESSA, Oct. 30.—The governor has issued a proclamation announcing that he will not hesitate to adopt the severest measures to repress disturbances. Railroad traffic is partially restored. Two trains guarded by troops were dispatched during the day and one of them arrived at its destination. Telegraph communication with St. Petersburg is interrupted.

THE INFANTRY

KEPT IN BARRACKS BECAUSE LOYALTY WAS DOUBTED.

ODESSA, Oct. 30.—It is impossible to fix even approximately the number of yesterday's victims. The officials in charge of the hospitals, cemeteries and lock-ups are strictly forbidden to give the slightest information. The dead and wounded, whose numbers must be very considerable, have been removed by the police and hidden out of sight of inquirers.

The infantry, of whose loyalty the authorities are doubtful, are kept in barracks and the Cossacks and gendarmes, who show no disinclination to shoot down people on sight, are left to deal with the crowds. At one barricaded corner yesterday, a student on the appearance of the Cossacks, mounted the barricade and appealed to them to join the people instead of killing their brothers, who were struggling for the freedom of their country. The Cossacks answered with four volleys, killing nine persons and wounding about forty. Similar scenes are occurring everywhere. The crowds fleeing before the charging Cossacks invade private houses and hide in garrets and on the roofs. Many private apartments have been converted into temporary hospitals for the succor of wounded refugees.

LITTLE RELIEF

GIVEN BY LAW PROVIDING FREEDOM OF PRESS.

PARIS, Oct. 30.—Communication between St. Petersburg and Paris remains uninterrupted. The streets of the Russian capital are filled with soldiers and the people maintain an ominous silence but no serious disorders are mentioned in the meagre reports received here. There is no confirmation of the London Daily Telegraph's statement that Emperor Nicholas has accepted the liberal program which gives legislative powers to the proposed national assembly.

A dispatch to the Journal from St. Petersburg quotes a personality of the court as saying that a constitution will be promulgated Nov. 2 and quotes another court functionary as saying that the law providing for liberty of the press which is about to appear, gives little real relief. The functionary added that Count Witte is about to be clothed with extreme power to meet the situation.

The telephone girls at St. Petersburg have joined the strikers and soldiers are replacing them, but the latter are attending chiefly to official calls. Many of the theatres are closed, the actors being among the strikers.

A dispatch to the Petit Parisen from St. Petersburg says the managers of the newspapers are conferring at the office of the Novoe Vremya, which has become anti-governmental.

RAILROAD

HAS BEEN DESTROYED BY THE STRIKERS.

WARSAW, Oct. 30.—2.33 p. m. A telegram received here from Moscow says the strikers have destroyed the Belt railroad and two houses on Twerska street, one of them belonging to the governor. Thousands of wealthy inhabitants of Moscow are leaving the city by any means available. The military operators are complaining of having to operate the commercial service. They declare they are too tired to perform the work.

Telegraphic communication between Warsaw and Vilna has been severed.

A CONSTITUENT ASSEMBLY.

VOLOGDA, Russia, Oct. 30.—At a meeting of the town council today to which the public was admitted a resolution was adopted to the effect that the only egress from the present terrible situation is the convening of a constituent assembly.

TROOPS FIGHT REBELS.

RIGA, Russia, Oct. 30.—During the day collisions between the troops and the armed populace continued. Many persons were killed or wounded. The strikers used knives and revolvers and killed a number of police with cold steel.

WILL PROTECT AMERICANS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—State department officials feel little apprehension for the safety of the Americans in St. Petersburg. It is believed here that only a few Americans unattached to the embassy remain there and these could without doubt, find asylum in the American embassy building, which is certain to have sufficient military protection if any is required.

RED TAPE

FORMER ENGINEER WALLACE WAS BADLY HANDICAPPED.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The criticism of former Engineer Wallace of the Isthmian canal that he was handicapped by official red tape, which prevented the speedy delivery of supplies has caused considerable discussion in the executive departments where the work is now being looked into by the Keep commission.

"Wherever the gift is handicapped by useless and ancient customs we shall modernize it by better business methods," said Chairman Keep today. "We do not find as much duplication of work as we do a multiplication of work. It is impossible to operate the business of the government after the fashion of private corporations, but there is room for better methods in many cases and the effort will be made to bring this about."

REV. DR. FISHER

FAMOUS CHARACTER IN BORDER WARFARE DEAD.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 30.—The Rev. H. D. Fisher, who died yesterday at Baldwin, Kansas, was one of the most famous characters produced by the trying days of the border warfare in Kansas and the subsequent four years of civil war. Because of his activity as a free state man and association with United States Senator "Jim" Lane, the Rev. Fisher was marked by the Quantrell band and his escape from capture and death during the Lawrence massacre is one of the most remarkable incidents of that affair.

Dr. Fisher was one of the few men who ever refused a United States senatorship. When Senator Lane committed suicide, Governor Crawford announced his intention of appointing Dr. Fisher to fill the vacancy. Later, the Rev. Fisher said, in relating his reasons for refusing the office:

"My wife and I laid the matter before God in prayer. The decision was against accepting the appointment."

FAST TIME

MADE BY THE BRITISH SECOND CRUISER SQUADRON.

HALIFAX, N. S., Oct. 30.—The second cruiser squadron under command of Rear Admiral Prince Louis of Battenburg sailed today for Annapolis and New York. An interesting feature of the trip, will be a power and speed of the British squadron and the comparison can be made between the speed of the British squadron and the United States cruiser squadron convoying President Roosevelt from the Gulf of Mexico to the north. On Saturday the prince's squadron made a speed of 18 knots an hour.

NO NEWS

PRESIDENT BELIEVED TO BE OFF NORTH CAROLINA COAST.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 30.—The office of the Commandant at the Norfolk navy yard reported at 9.30 o'clock this morning that nothing has been heard thus far today from the cruiser West Virginia, which is bound up the coast bringing President Roosevelt from New Orleans to Chesapeake Bay. The wireless station reported at 9 a.m. today that nothing more had been heard since midnight. The supposition is, however, that Admiral Brownson's fleet, of which the West Virginia is flagship, is somewhere off the North Carolina coast and that she will pass in the Virginia Capes this afternoon.

The U. S. weather observer at Cape Henry reports that nothing has yet been seen of the fleet off the Capes.

Instead of receiving the securities he had purchased, Kelley was dumbfounded to receive a letter stating that the contents of the package, upon receipt by the New York firm, consisted of newspaper clippings. The seals were intact, however.

Yesterday a deputation representing the union consulted with Senator Lodge at Nahant. He suggested that they endeavor to have the ways and means committee of the national house of representatives consent to the introduction of an act placing a high tax on wood alcohol. He believed this would greatly restrict its use and promised to assist in such a movement.

THE KAISER

LISTENED TO FIRST ADDRESS BY PROFESSOR PEABODY.

BERLIN, Oct. 30—Emperor William, Ambassador and Mrs. Tower, Baron Von Richthofen, the foreign secretary and many other officials and about fifty professors and six hundred students attended the first lecture of Prof. Francis Greenwood Peabody of Harvard in the hall of the university today.

Prof. Peabody whose subject was "Academic reciprocity," spoke for 45 minutes. The emperor from time to time nodded approval of his utterances and joined in the applause.

Referring to Pres. Roosevelt, Prof. Peabody said: "Twenty five years ago, the president received his bachelor's degree at Harvard. There he was taught to think straight and write simply and later years have taught him, how to fight in war and how to rule both others and himself in peace. From this experience, he issued into the world a man fit to meet the world problems of world power. It is one of the most extraordinary facts of contemporary history that an administrator, who some feared, might involve his nation in a needless war should find his most permanent title to fame by inheriting the beatitude "Blessed are the peace makers."

The professor then read a letter from President Roosevelt.

MANY WOMEN

ATTENDED RECEPTION OF THE NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY.

One of the most unique exhibits of the National Biscuit company was given in the Glidden building on Appleton street Saturday afternoon and evening. This attraction was advertised in the daily papers last week and it drew the largest crowd of ladies that was perhaps ever seen at a food exhibit in this city. There were several beautifully arranged booths where representatives of the National Biscuit Co. dispensed delicious coffee, cocoa and samples of their almost unlimited variety of cakes and crackers. They were very generous with their samples although the distribution might not have come up to the expectation of some of the women who were armed with bags large enough to take away a month's supply, but the company was merely extending samples and did not attempt to do any wholesale business. The women were certainly well repaid for the trouble of attending as a finer quality of goods never tickled the palate. The National Biscuit Co. originated this special attraction so as to introduce their goods to the masses of the people, and if one person out of five that attended will buy their products the National Biscuit Co. will do a wonderful business. Every one was loud in praise of their products and were amazed at the large variety of goods the company manufactured. The day has surely gone by when any housekeeper need fear of being without refreshments in case an unexpected visitor should drop in, as they can always in a very few minutes serve a variety that would be far superior to anything they could make themselves and at a less cost.

The National Biscuit Co. can congratulate themselves on the success of the reception. As well as giving away samples of their products the people received little souvenirs in the form of spoons, ornamental buttons and other little favors.

BIG CARNIVAL

THE ANNUAL HALLOWE'EN AFFAIR IN ALBANY.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 30—The annual Hallowe'en carnival opened here today with a business men's parade of advertising floats. The weather is perfect, clear and cool and business is practically suspended for the celebration. The hotels and boarding houses are overflowing. It is estimated that 25,000 strangers are within the city's gates already and that by tomorrow when crowning of Queen Titania II. occurs, the normal population will be doubled. State and Pearl streets in the heart of the city are scenes of gay confusion, filled with holiday crowds throwing confetti, blowing horns and wielding feather dusters, "flappers" and other instruments peculiar to the carnival.

This evening will occur the ghost parade and the bewitching of the mayor for the purpose of securing the keys with which Queen Titania will perform the ceremony of unlocking the city gates.

ROUGH VOYAGE

President's Arrival Delayed by Storm

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 31.—After fighting a northeast gale up the coast for 24 hours the fierceness of the wind and sea causing a wide divergence from the usual route, the armored cruiser West Virginia, bearing President Roosevelt from New Orleans, passed in Cape Henry last night convoyed by the armored cruisers Maryland, Pennsylvania and Colorado.

Owing to the choppy sea that prevailed off Cape Henry and in Lynn Haven inlet, the plan to transship President Roosevelt from the West Virginia to the dispatch boat Dolphin for the remainder of his journey to Washington was abandoned long before the squadron reached the capes. Early in the afternoon Admiral Brownson communicated with the Cape Henry station by wireless telegraph and instructed that a pilot for the Maryland waters be ready to board the West Virginia off the cape at 7 o'clock last night. The admiral expected his squadron would reach the entrance to the Chesapeake by that time but the heavy wind and sea prevented the vessels from coming in until half past nine.

Then it was announced by wireless that the president would transfer to the Dolphin off Smith's Point at the mouth of the Potomac river. The Dolphin had started up the bay for this point several hours before.

About half past eight o'clock the searchlights of the approaching warships could be seen on the horizon from the Cape Henry observation station and an hour later the outlines of the cruisers were discernible. All four were in column, but during the earlier part of the day the Colorado had been separated from the other ships in the storm, and efforts to reach her by wireless were unsuccessful for some time.

No stop was made at Cape Henry. The vessels passed into the bay and took the bay channel which runs to the north from the course into Hampton Roads. All during the day the West Virginia had been in communication with the Cape Henry station, about forty messages being exchanged.

The voyage of the squadron from the South Carolina coast to the Capes was a rough one. The northeast gale pitched up a nasty sea and off Hatteras the waves were running dangerously high, but while no fears were entertained for vessels of the West Virginia's class, it was evidently deemed wiser to give the treacherous shoals in that vicinity a wide sweep and the cruisers went out to sea. This caused the delay of the presidential squadron reaching the capes on schedule time.

President Roosevelt has transferred to the U. S. dispatch boat Dolphin and aboard that vessel left Wolf Trap light on the last leg of his journey to Washington at 12.40 o'clock this morning. He is scheduled to reach Washington today. The following despatch was received at the Washington navy yard early this morning:

"Navy Yard, Washington: Please inform the navy department that the Dolphin with the president aboard left Wolf Trap light at 12.40 a. m. and should arrive at the navy yard at Washington beween 10 a. m. and 11 a. m. today.

(Signed) "GIBBONS."

LOWELL'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

NATHAN'S STORY

Suspect Tells It to the Pittsburg Police

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 30.—Morris Nathan, who was arrested at the Hotel Henry last night on a charge of murder in connection with the Winthrop, Mass., dress suit-case mystery, spent a restless night in a cell at the Central police station. It was after 4 o'clock this morning before Nathan went to sleep, and for several hours he tossed about the cot in apparently much distress. He was awakened about 8 o'clock by the entrance of Director Moore of the public safety department.

"How are you, Nathan?" asked Director Moore.

"Well, I am probably as well as can be expected," he replied.

"It's an unfortunate affair," said Director Moore.

"I am in a very serious position," answered Nathan.

Director Moore continued the examination of the prisoner. What he learned was not announced, but Detective James Eagan made the positive statement that there would be some developments, and that Detective George W. Cole, his co-worker, may have something important to announce.

"Detective Cole had a talk with the prisoner and learned some important things," said Detective Eagan.

After questioning Nathan further, Director Moore said:

"This is a very important arrest. The prisoner knows something of the crime. Of that I am sure."

The police officials say it is evident that Nathan is weakening.

It was also intimated that he has told Detective Cole the relations he bore to Miss Geary. Steps have already been taken, it is said, that will lead to the location and arrest of the physician supposed to be implicated.

Supt. of Detectives McQuade says Nathan will be held until the arrival of an officer from Boston, who is expected here tonight.

Clarence Burleigh, a prominent local attorney, has been engaged to defend Nathan. Attorney Burleigh says he will fight extradition proceedings. This afternoon Supt. McQuade and Supt. of Police Wallace had another talk with Nathan and at its conclusion Supt. McQuade said the prisoner had made a statement but he refused to make it public at this time.

"Owing to the peculiar circumstances which surround this case," said Supt. McQuade, "and also because of the fact that the case belongs to the Boston police, I do not feel at liberty to tell you what Nathan said in regard to the case. He made a statement to us, but I would not feel that I was treating the Boston officers right if I should make public what the prisoner told us before they are told about it."

"Did Nathan confess that he was implicated in the murder of the girl?" the superintendent was asked.

"Now, that is not a fair question but I will say that he did not go that far."

Samuel Forrest, stage director of the Wright Lorimer company and a personal friend of Nathan, declared in police headquarters that a hundred persons could account for every minute of the accused man's time from the day Ethel Durrell was last seen in his company in Boston.

BOSTON WOMAN

May Have Performed Operation On Susanna Geary

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 30—The heads of the local police and detective bureaus are firmly of the opinion that they now have in their possession enough information to thoroughly clear up the celebrated Boston suit case mystery. As the result of the admissions made by him prisoner, Morris Nathan, when questioned this afternoon, they are almost positive that the death of Susan Geary resulted from a criminal operation performed by a woman in Boston and that the body of the girl was afterward mutilated to hide the fact. The name of the woman has been divulged by Nathan and upon receiving this information the officials immediately dispatched word to the Boston authorities to apprehend her. While Nathan does not appear to know enough to lead to a positive conclusion, he gives sufficient information to settle the mystery in the minds of Pittsburg detectives. Nathan admitted under pressure that while the last time he saw the girl was on Sept. 9, he knew that the girl had contemplated and discussed with him the advisability of submitting to a criminal operation and that during more than one of these conversations the name of the woman to whom she proposed to go, had been mentioned and the conclusion is that she finally carried out this plan with a result fatal to herself.

As a result of the information sent to Boston by the Pittsburg department it is expected that the woman will be arrested today if she has not left that city.

It is believed that when the woman is arrested the entire mystery will be cleared up. While Nathan finally weakened on this point and gave the local authorities what they consider to be a clear case, he was firm in his repetition of the other features of his original story and the officials believe his statement that he saw nothing of the girl after the date given by him. He know that the girl thought of consulting this woman but declares that he knows nothing of her later movements.

That the woman's name had been mentioned when the prospective operation was discussed, can be proved it is said by the fact that two other chorus girls of the company were with Nathan when he parted from Miss Geary at the subway station and that they heard the entire conversation.

HABEAS CORPUS

A WRIT GRANTED FOR NEWTON DOUGHERTY.

PEORIA, Ills., Oct. 30—Judge Worthington, sitting in chambers today, granted a writ of habeas corpus for Newton Dougherty confined in the county jail for alleged defalcation of school funds, but refused to fix the date for the hearing. The court in issuing the writ, stated that it was necessary that the members of the finance committee of the school board be notified of every step of the proceedings. The court also said that the state's attorney ought to be given ample time to go through the petition, which covers many typewritten pages.

Judge Worthington denied the petition of F. J. Quinn and J. A. Weil, attorneys for Dougherty, to hear the petition today or tomorrow.

PICKETS ABSENT

No Change in the Bleachery Strike

SAYLESVILLE, R. I., Oct. 30.—Conditions at the plant of the Saylesville bleacheries today were practically unchanged from the situation on Saturday last, with the exception that the pickets of the striking forces did not appear in evidence as during the latter part of last week. It is claimed by the strikers that about a dozen deputy sheriffs are at the plant, but confirmation of the presence of special officers could not be obtained, the mill officials refusing to discuss the matter, while a direct answer as to whether deputies were at the plant or had been asked for could not be obtained from Sheriff Hunter C. White of Providence county. No acts of violence have occurred at the bleacheries as yet, nor, so far as known have any threats been made and it is supposed that the alleged presence of the deputies is as a matter of precaution in case violence should be brought to bear upon the situation.

The bleacheries opened as usual today with about the same number of hands at work as on last Saturday, it being claimed by the strikers that between six and seven hundred hands are idle.

A meeting of the strikers to discuss the situation was to be held late in the day, but it is not expected that this will have any direct effect upon the situation.

SAVAGE ATTACK

Rear Admiral Train Was Assaulted by Chinese

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A dispatch to the Evening Standard from Shanghai says that Rear Admiral Train, commander-in-chief of the American Asiatic squadron, and his son, Lieutenant Train, have been victims of a savage attack by Chinese outside of Nanking. The American officers were pheasant shooting when the admiral accidentally shot a Chinese woman, slightly injuring her. Hundreds of villagers thereupon surrounded the officers, took away their guns, knocked the admiral down in the mud and held Lieutenant Train as hostage. Forty American marines who landed as a rescue party were attacked by a mob of Chinamen who tried to pitchfork the officers. The marines were obliged to fire twice. The Chinese officials refused to restore the officers' guns and supported the villagers.

Nanking has been active in the movement for boycotting American goods and is the center of activity on the part of the Japanese students.

THIRTEEN KILLED

Santa Fe Train Was Wrecked Near Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 30.—The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe passenger train No. 1 from Chicago, due at Kansas City at 10.30 a.m. this morning, was derailed near Sheffield, five miles east of Kansas City.

Several persons were killed and a number injured. The number killed is variously estimated at from four to eleven, while over twenty persons are said to have been injured. The injured will be brought to Kansas City. The wreck occurred at 10.15. Up to noon, no definite details had been received at the offices of the railroad in this city.

The wreck occurred at what is known as Rock Creek, where the Santa Fe tracks cross the tracks of the Missouri Pacific on a trestle.

It is stated that the train was derailed by striking a broken rail and that the entire train went down the embankment.

The wrecked train was one of the heaviest and fastest in the Santa Fe service. It left Chicago at 10 o'clock last night and was composed of regular coaches, chair-cars, tourist sleepers and Pullman sleepers. It was the California Limited, bound for the far west. Relief trains were sent from Kansas City to the scene shortly before noon and preparations made to bring the dead and injured to Kansas City.

The scene of the wreck was in an out of the way place, and delay in getting relief to the scene was experienced.

Up to 12.15, the relief train sent from Kansas City, had not reached Sheffield and the dead and injured were still at the wreck.

At that hour the number of dead was placed at eight. Rain added to the difficulties experienced by the rescuers.

13 KILLED

TWENTY-FIVE OTHERS WERE INJURED IN THE WRECK.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 30.—At least 13 persons were killed and 25 others injured today in the wreck of one of the fastest regular trains on the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railway, California Limited No. 1, which left Chicago at 10 o'clock last night for the far west. The train was ditched one mile east of Sheffield, Mo., six miles from the business center of Kansas City.

The wreck occurred in a cut while the train was running at the rate of 50 miles an hour and was caused by spreading rails.

The train was made up of vestibuled cars and while the vestibules prevented telescoping in a measure, the speed of the train was so great that it caused several of the cars to pile up on top of others, tearing out the connections. The wreckage was piled high and under it scores of passengers and members of the crew were buried.

Relief trains carrying many physicians were sent out from Kansas City shortly before noon and preparations made to bring the dead and injured to Kansas City.

LOWELL WOMAN

Heir to Estate of a Wealthy Miner

John Gallagher, a wealthy miner, died recently in Aspen, Col., and Mrs. Owen Tully of 12 Hudson street, this city, believes that she is the heir to the property left by John Gallagher. It was stated in The Sun about a week ago that Dennis J. Murphy had received a letter from Colorado inquiring for relatives of John Gallagher who died in that state.

Mrs. Tully says that her brother, John Gallagher, was born in Lawrence and was 45 years old this year. The family, she says, removed to Lowell and lived on Middle street. Her brother disappeared when a young man and it was reported he settled in the west. The family never heard from him after he left Lowell, but he must have told residents of Aspen that he had relatives here, as the writer of the letter to Mr. Murphy acknowledges that he believed Mr. Gallagher was born in Lowell.

The property in Colorado consists of an interest in a mine and some notes. Mr. Murphy will send proofs of Mrs. Tully's relationship to Mr. Gallagher to Colorado and if they are sufficient action will then be taken in the courts to secure the property.

WAS NOT FIRE

PROTECTIVE COMPANY SUMMONED TO CENTRAL ST. STORE.

The members of the protective company were called to Lull & Hartford's store in Central street last night at 7.25 o'clock for what was supposed to be a fire. It seems that a fire was started in a furnace and the smoke pouring from the chimney cast a reflection which caused passersby to imagine there was a fire in progress.

BURGLARS BLEW OPEN SAFE IN POSTOFFICE.

HOLYOKE, Mass., Oct. 30.—Burglars blew open the safe in the postoffice at South Hadley Centre early today with dynamite, but were frightened away before they had time to secure any of its contents. The noise of the explosion aroused the neighborhood and the burglars were chased in the direction of Granby but escaped.

SHARE-HOLDERS

300 Are Threatened With Bankruptcy

PITTSBURG, Oct. 30.—The coroner's inquest into the death of T. Lee Clark, the cashier of the Enterprise National bank of Allegheny, which began today, promises to throw some light on the badly muddled condition of the Enterprise bank. Among the prominent persons who have been subpoenaed to testify are Francis J. Torrance, an official of the Santa Fe Central railway and the Pennsylvania Development company, the two companies of which Clark was treasurer, Wilson Ashawn, president of the bank of Pittsburg, N. A.; Frederick Gwinner, president of the Enterprise bank, the entire board of directors and Mrs. Clark, the cashier's widow. The decision of Comptroller of the Currency Ridgley, to call for a full 100 percent. assessment on the stock of the insolvent institution is causing much anxiety among the stockholders. Some of the bank officials who know where the stock is held and by whom, predict that the assessment levied will bankrupt at least 200 of the small shareholders, if they are able to pay at all. In many cases, it is said, their stock certificates represented every cent they had. These small stockholders are shop-keepers, working men and women in the mills and factories of lower Allegheny and widows and orphans.

SECRETARY TAFT

Could Not Aid Parochial Schools

ROME, Oct. 30—The vatican authorities have received reports from the Philippines dealing especially with the recent visit of Secretary of War Taft and his attitude toward Catholic interests in the islands.

The reports say that Mgr. Ambrose Agius, the papal delegate, called a meeting of bishops to discuss these interests with the secretary. The latter complained particularly that the money which had already been paid for the Friar lands had been taken out of the islands and, according to the reports, "recalled the fact that Pope Leo and Cardinal Rampolla had promised him, during his visit to Rome in 1902, that the money for the lands would go for the benefit of the church in the Philippines and not to the religious orders."

The bishops complained of the delay in allowing them to retake their property, to which the secretary replied, advising Catholics to go to the supreme court for the purpose of regaining the property which they claim from Archbishop Aglipay, head of the independent Filipino church.

The bishops complained that after asking one member of the Philippine commission to especially devote himself to the protection of Catholic interests, this had not been done, "even by Judge James F. Smith, although a Catholic."

They urged the payment by the Washington government of what was due the Catholics for the occupation of church properties by American troops during the war, and finally set forth the need of financial assistance from the state for parochial schools.

The reports say that Secretary Taft, who showed an intention to totally or partially satisfy the other requests, declared it was impossible to comply with the last one, which was against the spirit of the separation of church and state, a fundamental principle of the United States Constitution.

RUSSIAN LOAN

WILL NOT BE PLACED UNTIL INTERIOR TROUBLES END.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30.—The negotiations for the new Russian loan were definitely adjourned at a meeting of the financiers today. Both sides agree that it would be inopportune to place a loan on the foreign markets until the interior situation in Russia has changed. The parting of the foreign bankers and M. Kokovsoff, the finance minister, was entirely amicable, the latter expressing their willingness to return to St. Petersburg and resume the negotiations at the minister's invitation.

During the negotiations M. Kokovsoff told the bankers that it was the intention of the government to employ the proceeds of the loan for the liquidation of the war expenses, the repatriation of the army, etc., and to generally restore the status quo ante bellum. There is also a tactic agreement to place orders for warships in the countries participating in the loan.

The foreign bankers have arranged to leave St. Petersburg in a body on Wednesday by water. A steamer has been chartered for this purpose. Prices on the Bourse today were firmer.

TEXTILE GOSSIP

News From Several Mill Centers

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 30.—The Adirondack Woolen Co., of which George L. Smith is the manager, has been endeavoring for some time past to make such arrangements with the state authorities as would enable it to enlarge its plant on Moss Island in this city. As with many other manufacturing establishments along the canal, a portion of the buildings are inside the blue line, on lands for which the state has had no use, but the state authorities now say that they not only cannot permit of any extension at that point, but that the present storehouse will have to be removed on account of the barge canal work. In view of those facts and the inevitable interruption of their business while the canal work is in progress, Mr. Smith is looking around to see what arrangements can be made to move the works, to some point in one of the New England states.

PRISON HEARING

Girl Makes Charges Against Mary Rogers

GERTRUDE KIMBALL HELD THE KEYS

That Opened Door of Women's Cells

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., Oct. 31—The prison investigation hearing which reopened here yesterday developed some extremely sensational incidents. The full board were present, Gov. Bell being in attendance, and his promised disclosures are well under way.

It is understood that at the hearing today further sensational charges will be brought up. Further disclosures in relation to the Mary Rogers scandal were laid over until today's session.

Mr. Oakes was put on the stand and was examined by Atty.-Gen Fitts.

Q.—How did Miss Rogers get possession of the scissors which she used in opening the locks of her cell? A.—She was in solitary then, and was doing some writing and wanted to cut some paper. She asked me for some shears. I told her I hadn't any, and couldn't allow her to have any. Mr. Flint, who was one of the guards, was present, and he had a small pair of pocket scissors with blunt points. He said she could have those if I was willing. Nothing more was said, but later she had them. Whether he gave them to her or not I do not know.

Q.—Do you think that was safe? A.—I didn't think anything more about the scissors.

E. B. Harpin, ex-warden of the prison, who gave his testimony at the beginning of the investigation, was cross-examined yesterday morning by Judge Palmer, counsel for E. W. Oakes, who began by asking if Harpin went to the prison with the implied understanding that he would some time be made superintendent.

A.—That was suggested to me.

In speaking of the matter of the witness' disapproval of a male guard for Mrs. Rogers in her death watch, when Mr. Oakes said Mrs. Meeker had a male guard, and Mrs. Rogers should, Harpin said that Mrs. Meeker was no comparison, for she was deaf, old and hideous-looking. Judge Palmer asked: "What do you mean by no comparison between the two?"

"Why, I call Mrs. Meeker a safe woman to be left with."

"You consider a woman like Mrs. Rogers to be in danger of improper relations with a man placed over her?"

"Why, I think there is more danger than to the other."

The next witness was Miss Gertrude Kimball. She said she was 18 years of age and had entered the prison May 2, 1904, as assistant to the matron, Miss Durkee, who was her aunt. Her duties were table work part of the time, and she also had charge of the female prisoners, unlocking and locking them up. No one else had the keys but herself. Miss Kimball's room was on the second floor above the guard room. On the first floor was her aunt's room and several of the guards' rooms. She testified that she knew E. I. Burr. He is a married man and roomed on the first floor with a guard named Peasley. Burr made advances to her, resulting in intimacy, which continued until his discharge. This began not long after she first went there.

She said that she became quite intimate with Mary Rogers and told her some things though not about her private matters. The witness knew of Mrs. Rogers having correspondence with L. E. Peasley, Burr's room mate, and had seen some of their letters which were of the nature of love letters. She said she knew Peasley was a married man. She never told any one of the letters. Miss Kimball said the letters indicated improper relations. At one time she picked up a letter on tissue paper which she showed to her aunt. There was not enough there to make out what the contents were. Witness said she told Mrs. Rogers of it, because she wormed it out of her. She confessed that the Rogers woman had an influence over her she could hardly explain, but her influence didn't have anything to do with her relations to Burr. Mrs. Rogers told her what took place in the west wing with Vernon Rogers. After Burr was discharged she had the keys of the women's department just the same. Witness said Craven told of the Vernon Rogers affair and evidently knew of it while it was going on.

Horace Boyd was also put on the stand again. He said Burr told him he had incurred medicine expenses of $10) on the girl's account. He said Burr bragged about what he had done and was very communicative about it.

How Many Rooms Do You Heat?

You say you try to heat part of your house but even that part is not really comfortable in the coldest weather.

Why don't you abolish those stoves or that furnace that gives such poor satisfaction and are so dirty? In place of those old style contrivances put in a hot water or steam boiler and know what it is to have plenty of heat and less dirt and fuss.

The heater that will work as you want it and when you want it is the

LIVE IN CAVE

STRANGE HOME OF A YOUNG COUPLE.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Conn., Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrington were found living in a small cave in a a sand pile at New Boston. Dr. George K. Roberts had been called from Attleboro and reported the case to the overseers of the poor, who found the sand dugout just large enough for sleeping apartments. At the entrance there was a cover of an express wagon, just large enough to break the force of a storm. In front of the cave in the open was a cook stove.

Mr. Harrington is about 34 years of age and his wife about 30. He has declined any offer of pecuniary assistance and is quoted by the overseers as saying that people should live according to their means, and he and his wife were doing so.

NO MORE STRIKES

Fall River Mill Men and Operatives Reach Agreement

FALL RIVER, Oct. 31.—After a conference that lasted from 2.30 yesterday afternoon until 6.45, an agreement was signed by the representatives of the textile council and the Manufacturers' association which undoubtedly will avert the threatened strike of the cotton mill operatives. The agreement is a compromise between the margin basis claimed by the operatives and that fixed by the manufacturers in the profit-sharing proposition offered Oct. 16.

The agreement is as follows:

It is agreed between the representatives of the operatives and the manufacturers that 18 cents per cut be made the basis of wages, with a margin of 72½ cents between the cost of eight pounds of middling upland cotton (New York quotation) and the selling value of 45 yards of 28-inch 64x64 print cloth or 33.11 yards of 38½-inch 64x64, with a division of profits on any additional margin above 72½ cents, as stated by the manufacturers in their reply to the secretary of the textile council, dated Oct. 16, 1905.

The above to take effect dating from Oct. 23, 1905. Margin to be computed weekly. No change in minimum shall be made before Oct. 1, 1906.

WHAT OPERATIVES GET.

The effect of this compromise is to give the operatives a flat advance of about 4 percent, with 1 percent additional when the margin is 72½ cents, and 1 percent more for each 1 cent of margin above 72½ cents up to 85 cents, and ½ percent more for each 1 cent of margin above 85 cents.

The manufacturers also yesterday made some other concessions or modifications of the original proposition, one of these being the fixing of the margin weekly instead of monthly, which will avoid misunderstanding and be more satisfactory to the help.

Another concession which will be looked upon favorably by the operatives is the agreement not to change the minimum wage before Oct. 1, 1906.

The question of reducing wages if the margin should fall below the minimum fixed has been used as an argument against the acceptance of the original proposition.

The agreement reached is looked on as a compromise, each side conceding about the same amount on the main proposition.

Representatives of each side in discussing the matter after the meeting, appeared to be satisfied that the wage question had been settled.

Sec. Taylor of the textile council said that the agreement was satisfactory to the representatives of the textile unions and they had agreed to urge the unions to adopt it.

END OF GREAT STRIKES.

The agreement means, in all probability, the end of great strikes in this city on the question of wages. The operatives have for years contended for a 70-cent margin on which to base a sliding scale, while the manufacturers have held out for a margin of 75 cents.

In the last general strike the labor leaders were willing to split the difference, but the manufacturers would not yield. In fact, even when Gov. Douglas set the figure at 74.36 cents, the manufacturers refused to be governed by this, and in their proposition several weeks ago stood by the 75-cent margin.

The agreement, therefore, may be regarded as an important victory for the operatives, who, although they have not obtained the margin figure they believed should prevail, have secured one lower than it was thought the manufacturers would ever concede.

The margin yesterday is 77 cents, which means an increase of a little less than 9 percent for the operatives. A week ago the margin was 83 cents. This margin constantly fluctuates, but with the present prospect of good trade the agreement should bring to the operatives on an average more money than a return of the 12½ percent reduction of July 25, 1904.

REJOICING IN THE CITY.

The news of the agreement has caused general rejoicing throughout the city. Hundreds of operatives who had gone away are now expected to return, as the agreement guarantees that wages shall not go below the present rate for one year, and in the margin as fixed there is bright promise for the future.

The conference of yesterday was brought about by Mayor Coughlin and the Retail Merchants' association. The manufacturers' committee at the conference consisted of Nathaniel B. Borden, Simon B. Chase, Thomas L. Brayton, David A. Brayton, C. C. Rounseville, W. F. Shove and George H. Hills.

The several unions will meet Wednesday night to act on the agreement. There is scarcely any question that it will be ratified almost unanimously.

It is thought that the compromise agreement will be adopted by mills elsewhere which follow the Fall River schedule.

CROWDED HOUSE

SAW PIECE CALLED THE VILEST OF PLAYS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—"The Hell" was lifted by Arnold Daly and "The Limit" of stage indecency reached last night in the Garrick theatre, in the performance of one of George Bernard Shaw's "unpleasant comedies" called "Mrs. Warren's Profession"—a profession, by the way, which is the occupation of a certain class of female harpies.

"The limit of indecency" may seem pretty strong words, but they are justified by the fact that the play is morally rotten. It makes no difference that some of the lines may have been omitted and others toned down—there was superabundance of foulness left. The story whole of the play, the atmosphere surrounding it, the incidents, the personalities of the characters are wholly immoral and degenerate.

The play is an insult to decency because it defends immorality, it glorifies prostitution, it besmirches the sacredness of a clergyman's calling, it pictures children and parents living in calm observance of most unholy relations.

It marks the acme of theatrical infamy in New York if not throughout the country.

FATAL LEAP

WOMAN DESERTED BY HUSBAND, DRIVEN TO DESPAIR.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Driven to despair because her husband had left her, Margaret Smith, 29 years old, a striking blonde with classic features, attempted self-destruction yesterday morning when she jumped from a four story window at the Hotel Chapman, 97 Compton street, to the sidewalk, a distance of about 45 feet.

Bleeding profusely and feebly uttering that she "would kill herself" the slight figure was picked up by Patrolman Tangney of station 4 and carried into the hallway.

There is a dispensary in the hotel, so a physician was on the scene almost immediately.

He ordered the woman to be taken right away to the city hospital, where her name was placed on the dangerous list. She is in a very critical condition and no hope is entertained for her recovery. Her spine is fractured and both legs are broken.

THE MIKADO

RECEIVED MEMBERS OF THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS.

TOKIO, Oct. 31—The members of the diplomatic corps, having requested an audience for the purpose of presenting felicitations on the conclusion of peace, the Mikado received them this morning and afterward invited them to luncheon together with the imperial princes, ministers of state and Baron Komura's suite. The action of the Mikado in inviting the diplomatic corps to luncheon on other than a state occasion, is without precedent.

RADICAL CHANGE

Proposed in Canons of Episcopal Church

BOLD ADDRESS BY BISHOP SANDERSON

He Favors Organization of Auxiliary Boards

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Like a thunder storm after the slow winds of a sultry day the Rt. Rev. Charles Palmer Sanderson, bishop of Chicago diocese of the Episcopal church, followed a half dozen routine speakers at the Layman's forward movement banquet at the Auditorium last night with a bold address, proposing changes in the church.

He stated that one of the purposes which he had in mind when he began work on the plan for the present Chicago conference of clergy and laity was that of "clearing the air" in the relations between the general board of missions and the fifth district, which includes the states of the old northwest territory.

"The relations between the board of missions and the fifth district have in the past been strained," said the bishop. "The way to clear the atmosphere is to discover the germs of incompatability and to destroy them.

"Ever since Bishop Chase, the first bishop of Ohio, went east as an ambassador and representative of his district and was opposed by Hobart, there has been a mutual distrust between the two sections of the country. The New Yorker refers, and will continue to do so, to the 'wild west' while we of the fifth district are inclined to turn up our noses at the 'Effete east.'

"Now, the trouble is not ecclesiastic and it is not geographical. The trouble is more elusive. It is caused by the daring spirit that led to the reformation and the same spirit that gave birth to the American nation.

"The representative of the east may assert that Chicago is not a colony, that there is no taxation and that there is representation. That is as true in theory as it is untrue in practice. The fifth district wants to be a real, vital integral part of the board of missions, just as every other district should be.

"For the accomplishment of this end there must be in every district some local authoritative organization that is vitally identified with the general board."

The bishop then launched a proposal which in short aimed at a change in the canons of the church and asked that canon 52, section 12, which provides that the general board be authorized to promote missionary organizations throughout the country, be changed to read that auxiliary boards may be organized in every district that shall be subordinate to the general board, but shall have power to conduct missionary work, spread the propaganda, raise money and elect a representative, upon the general board. The motive of the change and its result, he urged, would be, not to decentralize authority but to extend the power of the board and asserted that the middle west has stood for this point during the last twenty years and that it will be for the advantage of the districts and to the missionary work of the church.

WOMEN'S CLUB

Interesting Talk by Mrs. Clark

EFFECT OF CLUBS DISCUSSED

Rise and Progress of the Women's Club

The Middlesex Women's club, yesterday afternoon, listened to a very brilliant and very witty address on "The Effect of Women's clubs on Domestic Life," by Mrs. Kate Upson Clark of New York. Mrs. Clark is quite prominent as a writer and also as a club woman. She spoke in part as follows:

Do not think for an instant that I intend to measure the entire effect of the club woman upon domestic life. I do not think it can be measured. But I am going to tell you what I myself have seen.

Mrs. Gilman has wittily and logically scorned domesticity, but the banishment of that effete institution, the home, is not coming in our day. How can we most efficiently banish disorder and sickness and sorrow from our homes, and make and keep them bright and interesting and useful.

Suddenly, to many of us, a score or more years ago, came the call of the club. No Mrs. Gilman had then arisen to question the authority of our sovereign, the home. What would happen to that sacred institution, if we left it to its own devices for a few hours? Various opinions prevailed. Grover Cleveland had not then turned his attention to clubs; or maybe they had perished in their infancy, under his criticisms.

It was like voyaging on unknown seas alone; but some of us delivered the house over to the tender mercies of the cook and housemaid until we should return, and plunged boldly into the club.

One of the most revolutionary things that we heard, was that we must not make home the immediate idol of our souls; that the home was a mere tool, as it were, to a higher development. We must aim at broad culture, and expand our minds, and use our homes as we used everything else, in this uplifting process for ourselves and our families. We began to question the established fetishes of our housekeeping. We asked each and all of the old ways, Is this reasonable and necessary? Rash vows were hard on every side, concerning short dresses and pockets. We were warned, however, against sudden and extreme revolution. There was already prejudice enough to overcome. We must not increase it.

One of our first discoveries was that people of equal and superior intelligence could honestly differ in opinion. This was in itself a great revelation. It taught us a new and a broader charity. We learned to "see large things large, and small things small."

As we go on in the right kind of club life, and learn to admire women more, the exaggeration of the sex question becomes abhorrent to us. We begin to believe with President Andrews, that there is no sex in mind, morals or occupation, and with Mrs. Ullman, that there is no feminine mind, any more than there is a feminine liver. There is no feminine way of learning that Caesar crossed the Rubicon. I do not understand how we are going to give our girls the rudiments of education, and have it done in a feminine way. Can you make a feminine grammar and arithmetic? It is ridiculous. The lessons that interest men and women are identical. This is one of the great lessons which the women's club has taught us.

It strengthens our convictions and gives courage to the faltering, to find that others are with us. We sit down to dinner, and we listen to a man. He says, "My opinion is that the less education women have, the better. I believe that women were made for the home." And you have to listen to it, and say, "Yes, indeed; and that is very beautiful." At the club, we find that others agree with us, and our fluidity disappears.

Musical and art clubs are considered by most men as rather silly, but harmless. Women's reform clubs are regarded with the most suspicion. The woman reformer is the special butt of the satirist and caricaturist. The woman who joins such, takes, as it were, her social life in her hands. The woman who dares to name and to denounce the sins of society today, is often treated with as withering contempt as that which was heaped upon Lydia Maria Child.

The ordinary culture club has done more to set women thinking and to quicken their ideals, than any other single agency, in any town. Let us recall some of the definite advantages which the plain woman has gained from the club.

The club has helped to develop the sense of proportion and comparison.

We have read and studied much more than we otherwise should, under the stimulus of women's clubs; and largely on domestic topics.

We have come not only to respect women more, but to love them more. Thus a spirit of comradeship has been developed. This has extended to men, and has thus helped to arrest a false and demoralizing sex emphasis, one of the most insidious foes to the higher civilization.

DEATH SENTENCE

Will Not be Carried Out Yet

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31—The preparations which were going on for the execution of Ghirkis Vartanian, who claims American citizenship and who was condemned to death by the criminal court at Stamboul, October 19, for the murder of Apik Hadjian, a prominent Armenian, were suddenly stopped yesterday on the receipt of a note from the American legation, setting forth in unequivocal terms that such an act would inevitably produce serious consequences. The authorities have now notified the legation that the execution of the death sentence has been postponed, pending the settlement of the question of principle on which the legation and the Porte are now negotiating.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS WHILE OPERATING.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—While he was performing a serious operation yesterday in the Michael Rees hospital, Dr. J. W. Oswald, one of the leading surgeons on the north side was stricken by paralysis. The operating knife dropped suddenly from his hand, was picked up by an interne and given back to him. It dropped again from his nerveless fingers and then the attendants understood. They carried him from the room and another surgeon completed the operation. It is not expected that he will recover or even temporarily regain consciousness. Dr. Oswald is 42 years old.

PLAIN DUTY OF VOTERS

THIS IS A CAMPAIGN IN WHICH THE INTERESTS OF THE PLAIN PEOPLE ARE DEEPLY INVOLVED, BECAUSE THE DEMOCRACY BACKED BY A LARGE SECTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY STANDS FOR RECIPROCITY AND TARIFF REVISION. HENRY M. WHITNEY, THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, PERSONALLY REPRESENTS THE RECIPROCITY IDEA, HIS OPPONENT, EBEN S. DRAPER, THE OPPOSITE. MASSACHUSETTS BUSINESS MEN HAVE AGAIN AND AGAIN DEMANDED RELIEF FROM THE TARIFF BURDENS WHICH ARE PARALYZING THE BUSINESS AND COMMERCIAL INTERESTS OF THE NEW ENGLAND STATES BY A TARIFF ON HIDES, ON LUMBER, ON COAL, AND BY UNREASONABLE RESTRICTIONS ON TRADE WITH CANADA, THEIR NEXT DOOR NEIGHBOR.

THE ELECTION OF BARTLETT AND WHITNEY UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES, WOULD BE REGARDED AS A FATAL BREAK IN THE REPUBLICAN STRONGHOLD OF MASSACHUSETTS AND WOULD ASSUREDLY HASTEN THE RELIEF SOUGHT. LOWELL HAS SUFFERED IN COMMON WITH OTHER CITIES FROM THE UNJUST TARIFF BURDENS AND HENCE IT IS THE DUTY OF EVERY CITIZEN TO VOTE THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET ON NOVEMBER 7.

VICTORY MEANS A BUILDING BOOM FROM CHEAPER LUMBER, CHEAPER SHOES FROM FREE HIDES, THE RECOVERY OF CANADIAN TRADE THAT NOW GOES TO OTHER COUNTRIES AND THE INAUGURATION OF A NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY FOR MASSACHUSETTS. IT IS AN ECONOMIC CRISIS THAT SHOULD BE MET WITH INTELLIGENT ACTION BY EVERY CITIZEN.

The greater part of the present session of the superior court has been taken up with suits for damages. Judging from some of the cases already tried almost any one might have foreseen the result. There must be some evidence of carelessness or mismanagement before any jury will grant a verdict for damages.

Miss Alice Roosevelt denies the rumor that she is engaged to Congressman Longworth or anybody else. It would hardly look right for Alice to enter into an engagement on a tour of the world and without consulting her parents in the matter. Indeed the proposal of the Sultan of Sulu may have been the only proposition she received on her trip.

DON'T LET THIS OPPORTUNITY PASS.

The peculiar form of our government makes a change in federal laws a very slow process. Some questions may be agitated, argued and discussed for twenty years before any practical steps are taken for a change. The money question was agitated in this country from 1872 and until a few years ago there was no action that could be regarded as a settlement. The tariff question has been under agitation very much longer and at the present time there is as great a demand for a change as ever existed in this country.

Especially is this demand heard with most emphasis in Massachusetts and other New-England states where industry is in a degree paralyzed by the tariff on hides, coal and wood pulp and by unreasonable and injurious restrictions upon trade with Canada. The present state campaign is conducted wholly upon national issues. The Dingley law discriminates against Massachusetts, especially in the tariff on hides, on coal, on lumber and wood pulp.

On account of her proximity to Canada and the large number of shoe shops within her borders, Massachusetts suffers more than any other state in the union from the tariff on hides and from the restrictions on trade with Canada.

This state alone produces one half of the factory and custom shoes produced in the United States and more than four times as much as any other state. The total product of the 645 shoe shops of Massachusetts is $150,000,000 annually.

Governor Douglas, one of the largest shoe manufacturers of the state, asserts that for free hides and free sole leather he would willingly relinquish the 25 per cent. tariff on shoes. With these advantages, he says he could meet the competition of the world in the manufacture of shoes.

This would mean the command of the world's market and a great increase in the number of factories in this state and throughout the country.

Who would be injured by the removal of the tariff on hides? Who, but the beef trust which was instrumental in having the duty placed in the Dingley law through the effect of a powerful lobby? Under such circumstances there should be no question about the removal of the tariff on hides. It is a matter upon which all political parties should be of one mind.

The tariff on lumber prevents Canadian lumber from coming in here and as a result the cost of lumber is so high that it retards building enterprise and causes our natural forests to be cut down to supply even the limited demand.

What is the remedy? Admit Canadian lumber free. This change is a necessity to the progress of New England. To delay it will do incalculable injury in raising rents, in having our New England hills denuded of their forests to supply wood pulp. We have to pay freight from Michigan or the south just because the Dingley law imposes a tariff on lumber.

The coming election will have a strong bearing on all these questions. Any vote above the normal democratic strength will be counted as a protest against the present system and in favor of the change proposed—to free raw material and reciprocity with Canada.

It is the duty of republicans in the interest of Massachusetts industries to vote against their party in this election because unless the party be rebuked by defeat or a greatly reduced majority, the republican bosses such as Lodge and other upholders of the trusts will refuse to favor any change in the tariff.

Let the voice of Massachusetts be heard on the 8th of November and the desired relief will come in free raw material and in some form of reciprocal trade relations with Canada. Do not let this opportunity pass as the right kind of a protest now may prevent long years of delay with their further depression of Massachusetts industries.

SEEN AND HEARD

Each day the snowy white or dull black fleeces of 35,000 sheep are converted into yarn or fine woolen cloth in the huge structure, extending over acres of land, known as the Arlington mills, in Lawrence, the largest of its kind in the United States.

Thirty-five thousand sheep, enough to cover nearly 10 acres of pasture if packed so close as to just allow breathing space; enough sheep to overflow Boston common and the Public Garden; enough sheep to devour all the grass in Franklin park within a few days. That is what 35,000 sheep means; a herd so large that to the eye it would look like a billowy, tumultuous, heaving ocean, completely covered with a frothing white foam.

The Fr. Mathew Temperance society of North Billerica will celebrate its 18th anniversary one week from Saturday night in Talbot Memorial hall. There will be a banquet at 6 o'clock and at 8 o'clock there will be a concert followed by dancing. The speakers at the banquet will be Rev. Lawrence J. Tighe, O. M. I., Edward F. Slattery, "father" of the society, ex-Alderman James O'Sullivan, Treasurer Clark of the Talbot mills, John V. Donoghue, president of the Mathews of Lowell, Mayor Casey and Chairman Charles H. Kohlrausch of the Billerica selectmen. President Twomey of the North Billerica society will be toastmaster.

Roast pig dinners have become quite a fad now. Every Sunday different groups of young men assemble in different places to enjoy the suckling and swap stories. Last Sunday the genial John Billingsley had eight of his friends as guests and they got away with a twenty-two pounder and all the "fixins." More than that each received a souvenir in the shape of a briar pipe and then as a finisher Mr. Billingsley himself was remembered by his guests with several gifts, including a beautiful picture and a fountain pen.

Joseph King was toastmaster and speeches were delivered by James Cudworth, Joseph Dawson. There were duets by Henry O'Brien and Jos O'Brien; Frank O'Hare did a buck and wing dance, and the well known black face artists Fred Halstead and Michael Sullivan, gave their latest stunt, "Roast pig is good enough for us." Patrick Whalen was heard in whistling solos and a stump speech and then the host responded to all the kind things that were said of him and expressed the hope that all would be present at the observance of his twenty-second birthday on Oct. 29, 1906.

The Royal Arcanum glee club will close its cosy camp on the banks of the Concord river in Billerica next Sunday. A banquet will be held and there will be a musical program as well as several speeches. The season has been a most enjoyable one for the R. A. glee club members and their friends and during the winter plans will be made to have next season the liveliest in a social way in the history of the club.

I understand that Albert Sutcliffe of this city has been chosen to the supreme council of the Good Templars. This is in recognition of the great gain in membership made by the order in this state during his administration as chief templar.

Tonight will be hallowe'en, the time when the young people play their pranks much to the annoyance of some of the older generation. If you should feel offended at some trick of the youngsters, just think that you were out for fun yourself once and hated to have the older ones interfere with or mar your pleasure.

One week more to election day and yet as a "pol" remarked yesterday, there is none of the old-time excitement that once attended a state election. Why is it, I wonder?

"Joe" McGrath was speaking a few evenings ago of circumstantial evidence and expressed the belief that many times innocent men are punished. "Why," he said, "just to illustrate my point let me relate a little story. You remember that the Barristers hall fire occurred on Sunday morning. Well, Saturday night with Lawyer O'Connor and Lawyer Hennessy I started to leave the latter's office. As we reached the door I glanced toward the safe and saw that the two large doors were swung open. I called Hennessy's attention to it, but he remarked that he guessed no one would try to break into his office. But Lawyer O'Connor advised him to lock the safe doors and he did so, though not before I had suggested to him that it would be wise to do so, 'for who can tell' I said, 'but what this place may be burned down tonight.' You can imagine my surprise when I came down town Sunday morning and found the firemen at work on the building. There was circumstantial evidence for you in case that fire started in Hennessy's office."

The parochial school children will enjoy a day of rest tomorrow, it being a holiday of obligation. The children will be required to attend the high mass at their respective parish churches and then will be dismissed for the remainder of the day.

BOYS FOUGHT

TROUBLE CAUSED BY NOTE WRITTEN BY GIRL

MALDEN, Oct. 31.—Two boys in the freshman class of the high school had a lively set-to yesterday afternoon in a field in the rear of the old opera house, off Dartmouth street, the contention being over Marion Langell, a classmate.

During the session of school it is said that Miss Langell threw a note to Watson Hildreth and it fell into the hands of Ralph Holden. Young Hildreth took offence at Holden for taking the note, and after school the two had a dispute, which resulted in Hildreth's challenging Holden to fight it out.

The field in the rear of the opera house was selected, and nearly 50 high schools boys followed to see the contest. Both boys took off their coats and punched each other for more than 15 minutes. Both were knocked down several times, and were more or less bruised about the face and eyes. It would have been fought to a finish if Patrolmen Shaughnessy and Gray had not been seen running toward the field, causing the principals and spectators to flee.

BOXING GOSSIP

A big delegation of Lowell sports will attend the next meeting of the Unity Cycle and Social club in Lawrence on Friday evening of this week when the attraction will be Young Kenney, formerly of this city, and Willie Cornell, the Lowell lightweight who is fast coming to the front. The pair met before and Kenney received the decision, which at the time was disputed by the spectators. Since that time Cornell has improved wonderfully and has lost his amateurish ways which handicapped him somewhat in a real live go and his friends expect to see him prove himself the superior of the Lawrence boy and will back their judgment. On the other hand Kenney has taken better care of himself of late and has been in the hands of his old trainer Tommy Tully, who has made many a boxer go fast. Since returning to Tully Kenney has dropped some superfluous flesh and is in better shape than he has been in a long time. The bout should be one of the fastest and most interesting of the season. A special car will be provided for the Lowell members of the club. The Unity club is well located for out-of-town visitors as it is on the car line of both the Lowell and Haverhill cars. In addition thereto the club opens its program promptly at eight o'clock so as to give the out-of-town members ample opportunity to get the last car home. The usual number of interesting preliminaries will be presented with one or two Lowell boys in them.

The body was viewed by the medical examiner who pronounced death due to hemorrhage of the brain.

JESSE POMEROY

AGAIN SEEKS PARDON FROM GOV. DOUGLAS.

Once more Jesse Pomeroy, life prisoner at the Charlestown state prison, has appealed to the governor for pardon. Pomeroy has written to the chief executive about three times a year for many years. In his latest letter to Gov. Douglas he does not vary the ground on which he believes executive clemency should be extended.

He sets forth again that he was very young, about 14 years, he says, when sentenced to life imprisonment. For 32 years, he adds, he has been in solitary confinement. He contends that when he was tried public sentiment was so strong and feeling ran so high that justice was affected thereby.

So he asks Gov. Douglas to refer his case to the pardon committee for hearing. There is no indication of his excellency's acquiescing.

The Kerry herd owned by Misses O'Reilly and pastured by them at Chontarf, near Dublin, are little larger than goats, and wonderful little pets. The amount of milk they give, however, is very large and it is extremely rich in cream. They were willed to these young ladies by a wealthy relative in Kerry, who took great pride in maintaining the purity of the strain of the cattle. Reserved seats for the Irish Ladies' Choir concert are now on sale at Boulger's shoe store, 115 Central street.

Over half the complaints of mankind originate with the kidneys.

A slight touch of backache at first.

Twinges and shooting pains in the loins follow. They must be checked, they lead to graver complications.

The sufferer seeks relief.

Plasters are tried, and liniments for the back.

So called Kidney cures which do not cure.

The long-looked-for result seems unattainable.

If you suffer, do you want relief?

Follow the plan adopted by this Lowell citizen.

Mrs. Thomas Shannon of 4 River Bank st., Lowell, Mass., says: "I had a heavy, dull aching pain in my back for a long time. I neglected it thinking it would pass away of its own account but found that instead of so doing it increased. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and induced me to give them a trial, so I went to Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store for a box. Judging from the beneficial results obtained I do not hesitate to recommend them. I know others also who have derived great benefit from this remedy."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

GREEK CHURCH

To be Erected on Lewis Street

A new Greek Orthodox church is to be erected in Lewis street, this city. The structure is to be one which the local Greeks will feel proud of, the seating capacity to be 2000 with an amphitheatre auditorium, a school room for daily use and all the modern improvements, the total cost to be in the vicinity of $50,000.

The property was recently purchased by the Greeks and it is free from any incumbrances. It will have an auditorium with a big seating capacity, made along the usual line, with amphitheatre galleries for the women. The men alone occupy the body of the house of worship.

The basement will be used both for church and school purposes. The board of directors intend to establish a school in which the Greek girls and boys will be taught their own language. This will not interfere in any way with the public schools, for the children will still attend them to learn English and other studies.

CIVIC LIBERTY

Has Been Proclaimed in All Russia

RUSSIA'S NEW CABINET.

Count Serge Witte, minister-president.

Prince Alexis Obolensky, minister of interior.

M. Romanoff, minister of finance.

M. Koni, minister of justice.

M. Krosovsky, minister of education.

M. Ziegler von Schaffhausen, minister of ways and communication.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 31.—"I am sure American people, who understand what freedom is, and the American press, which voices the wishes of the people, will rejoice with the friendly Russian nation at this moment, when the Russian people have received from his imperial majesty the promises and guarantees of freedom, and will join in the hope that the Russian people will, wisely aid in the realization of those liberties by cooperating with the government for their peaceful introduction. Only thus will it be possible to secure the full benefit of the freedom conferred upon the people."

Count Witte, Russia's first premier, last night sent the above message to the American people through the Associated Press. He had just arrived at his residence on Kammenivrov Prospect from Peterhof, where in the Alexander palace the emperor two hours before had given his final approval to a manifesto and to a program which will forever end the rule of absolutism exercised by him and his Romanoff ancestors for 300 years.

BOWED TO INEVITABLE.

A simple perusal of the manifesto shows how complete is the emperor's abdication of his autocratic power. The very style of the document is clear and direct and devoid of the verbose, vague and bombastic phraseology which heretofore has characterized his majesty's manifestos. It not only betrays real authorship but shows that the emperor at last has irrevocably bowed to the inevitable.

He does not even conceal the fact that the discontent and agitation of his subjects has driven him to take the step, and he practically yields everything—civil liberty, the inviolability of person and liberty of conscience, speech and assembly.

He not only converts the farcical imperial douma, with only consultative power, into a true legislative assembly, without the assent of which no measure shall become law and before which all governmental authorities must answer, but promises, eventually, universal suffrage.

The title, "autocrat of all the Russias," with which the manifesto begins, now takes its place with the title of "king of Jerusalem," borne by the king of Spain, and with other obsolete titles of European sovereigns.

J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr. and George W. Perkins were with Finance Minister Kokovsoff when the latter received the news. It was a dramatic moment.

The minister was called to the telephone, and when he returned he was greatly agitated and said:

"Gentlemen, the old order of things has changed. Russia has a constitution."

JUDGE SWAYNE

UPHELD BY THE SUPREME COURT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The case of U. S. Judge Charles Swayne of Florida, who was the subject of impeachment proceedings by the senate during the last session of congress, was decided yesterday by the supreme court of the United States in connection with a decision in the case of Florida McGuire vs. William A. Blount involving title to land near Pensacola, Fla. The opinion sustained the decision of the court of appeals for the sixth circuit which was favorable to Blount. Judge Swayne sat in the trial of this case, and during its progress was requested to excuse himself and not sit in the case because as was alleged in the petition, his wife owned an interest in the property. In the course of his decision, Justice Day said that no interest by Mrs. Swayne had been shown in any competent manner and that no adequate reason for Judge Swayne's retirement from the case had been given.

Christian Endeavor Society Takes Action

AGAINST THE RACE TRACK ABUSES

Directing Its Attention to Salem, N. H. Track

At the monthly meeting of the Christian Endeavor Union held at the Pawtucket church last night, the occasion also marking the 21st anniversary of the Pawtucket society, the following resolution protesting against gambling on the race track at Salem, N. H., was adopted:

"In view of the establishment under the protection of a state charter of a race track in Salem, N. H., for the purpose of race track gambling, and realizing that said location was chosen on account of its nearness to Lawrence, Lowell and other Massachusetts cities, in order to enable the club outside the pale of Massachusetts law to prey upon the citizens of this state, scattering ruin and misery in our midst, we, representing the Lowell Union, Y. P. S. C. E., call upon the Christian people of New Hampshire not to impose upon us this evil, and to revoke as soon as possible the charter of the New England Breeders' Association, and we extend to them our hearty support in their efforts."

Rev. George F. Kenngott said that no time should be lost in making war against pool selling on the race track in Salem. He said the men who invested $25,000 in that track knew that they would get a big return for their money by pool selling. "Men are ruined every year betting on the races," said Mr. Kenngott. "The business," he said, "is not legitimate and as Christian Endeavorers we should stand up and fight it."

Rev. E. Victor Bigelow expressed himself as in sympathy with the remarks made by Mr. Kenngott. He said:

"I am with you on that, from what I have learned it is now too late to stop the track from being operated this year. The mill was railroaded through the New Hampshire legislature that gave the men the right to build the track and have pool selling; but if we start in to oppose it strongly, then we may accomplish something in stopping it later."

The meeting last night was largely attended. Refreshments were served at 7.15 in the vestry by the young people of the Pawtucket society.

The secretary, Miss Grace Fuller, and delegates from the following societies responded: Highland Congregational, Eliot Congregational, First Trinitarian Congregational, First Congregational, Pawtucket Congregational, High Street Congregational First Presbyterian, First Baptist, Paige Street Free Baptist, Worthen Street Baptist, Chelmsford Street Free Baptist, Mt. Vernon Free Baptist, Immanuel Baptist, Branch Street Tabernacle, First Congregational of Dracut (Hillside), Dracut Centre Congregational, North Chelmsford, Billerica Congregational, North Billerica Baptist, Tyngsboro Evangelical, Chelmsford Centre Baptist, Chelmsford Centre Congregational.

The reports of the secretary and treasurer were read and accepted. The resolution condemning pool selling on the race track in Salem, N. H., was read and accepted unanimously.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held on Nov. 27. The president announced the following nominating committee for the ensuing year: Albert McQuestion, chairman; Rev. Owen James of the Dracut Centre Congregational church, Mrs. F. C. George of the First Presbyterian, Walter Johnson of the First Congregational, Rev. A. E. Kenyon of the Chelmsford Street Baptist, Miss Magoon of the High Street Congregational, Rev. Harry Taylor of the First Baptist.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. William Shaw, treasurer of the national C. E. union.

A committee of five was appointed to take charge of the contributions to be made by all the Lowell and suburban societies.

An entertainment closed the program of the evening, including the following numbers: Duet, W. C. Hamblett and C. A. Richardson; solo, Mrs. O. R. Park; readings, Miss Loneva Blanchard.

The next meeting of the union will be held at the First Congregational church.

BIG RALLY HELD IN GARDNER

The Candidate Appeals for Wider Markets

GARDNER, Oct. 31.—Not since the days of William E. Russell has there been such a turn-out of the democracy of northern Worcester county as filled Gardner theatre last night to overflowing.

The occasion was the rally under the auspices of the Gardner democratic town committee. A large delegation of enthusiastic party workers from Winchendon, accompanied by a band, came by special train.

From 7.30 to 8 there was a public reception at the Windsor house to Gen. Charles W. Bartlett, candidate for governor; David I. Walsh of Clinton, Harvey H. Pratt of Boston and Owen A. Hoban of Winchendon, candidates for representatives.

The occasion was one of unusual interest to Gen. Bartlett because of the presence of a number of men who were pupils of his 30 years ago when he, a student at Dartmouth college, came to Gardner to teach school at the old Bell schoolhouse in South Gardner during the winter of 1866.

The "school boys" who came out to meet their teacher last night were O. B. Knight, A. K. Learned, T. W. Learned, W. F. Learned, A. W. Gale, C. M. Baker, G. E. Baker, E. E. Adams, W. O. Adams, E. D. Rice, S. L. Walker and Mr. Cheaton.

During the reception the band gave a concert in the square.

Shortly after 8 o'clock the rally was opened in Gardner theatre, with selections by the band. On the stage were seated members of the democratic town committees and other prominent democrats from Gardner, Winchendon, Templeton, Baldwinville, Ashburnham and Westminster.

Before entering upon the discussion of the issues of the campaign, Mr. Bartlett expressed his delight at meeting his former pupils once more. He created considerable merriment by holding up to view one of the recently issued republican primers and ridiculing its alleged fallacies by giving his former pupils instructions from it, telling them to be sure not to make mistakes when reading its fables.

GENERAL BARTLETT.

General Bartlett spoke in part as follows:

"The issues of this campaign are issues that appeal directly to the business men, workingmen and manufacturers alike. There are five distinct articles upon which we desire entire abolition of duty and also desire such an arrangement of the Dingley tariff as will open to us wider markets, both in Canada and throughout the world.

"I speak of Canada first because it lies directly upon our borders and because she is a great, growing and thriving empire, vast in area, increasing in population with great rapidity, increasing in products, manufacturing products, agricultural and otherwise, and her market is extremely valuable.

"Its growth has been astounding and in a few years we shall find that a dangerous rival is standing on a line purely imaginary opposite our own people.

"Its transportation facilities are increasing rapidly. We need that market, we need that trade. Particularly do we need the advantage of its transportation lines. We need this benefit which will accrue to us from close connection with our great city of Boston.

"To secure these benefits and that market as well as others, we have got to make concessions. Those concessions must be in the nature of a reduction from the high rate of taxation now levied. The principle now being followed out by our own agents and servants in congress, unless it is checked will either practically close that door, and as that country is rapidly filling up with American settlers, going a great many of them into the northwest and settling upon the finest wheat and grain land and taking up some of the finest grazing lands in the world, it is safe to say that they are rapidly learning the art of building up tariff walls to as colossal a height as we can build.

"My opponent, Mr. Guild, in his speech to you the other night said we all desired reciprocity. If he makes that admission then why is it that our leaders in congress from this state are absolutely cold to doing anything for reciprocity. And this campaign means that the people of Massachusetts desire that something should be done that a clear and unequivocal notice shall be served upon them that acts should be performed, endeavors made to meet the Canadians across our border in a spirit of mutual concession."

BOXER IS DEAD

ST. JOHN, N. B., Oct. 31.—A boxing exhibition in Queen's Rink in this city was suddenly terminated last night by the death of Charles O'Reagan, a local boxer, who was knocked out by Fred Northrup of St. John in the sixth round of the preliminary bout. O'Reagan died within an hour after he was carried from the ring in an unconscious condition. O'Reagan was knocked out by a blow to the heart. The referee and seconds were arrested but no charge will be preferred until a consultation with Attorney General William Pugsley.

FOUR ALARMS

FIRE IN ONE OF STANDARD OIL SHEDS.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 31.—Four alarms were necessitated last night by a fire in a shed used as an oil reservoir by the Standard Oil company which threatened with destruction two oil tanks in which were quantities of kerosene and gasolene. By hard work the fire was kept from igniting the tanks. The burning oil from the shed was caught on the volume of water poured into the shed and was conveyed through a sewer to a wooden bridge, an eighth of a mile away, so damaging the bridge that it was closed to traffic. The total damage was but a few hundred dollars.

William Redford will not claim his share of his uncle's estate. He died at the state hospital in Tewksbury, May 6, 1890. He was admitted to the state hospital from Lowell, May 8, 1889. John H. Nichols, superintendent of the hospital says that Redford left no address of relatives or friends. It was known at the hospital that Redford was born in England and that his parents names were Thomas and Martha.

BOTTLE HIT CAR

Nitro - Glycerine Exploded In Saybrook

SAYBROOK, Conn., Oct. 31—This town was shaken as by an earthquake about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by the explosion of a pint of nitro-glycerine in the railroad yards.

Windows were broken, houses shaken to their foundations and people rushed out of their homes panic-stricken. It is reported that the explosion was felt as far as Westbrook, a few miles away.

The bottle containing the explosive was found under the carhouse by Michael Murphy, a section foreman, who went there to get his coat. He did not find the coat where he left it and looked under the house for it.

There he discovered the package containing the explosive, and not knowing what the bottle contained took it to towerman L. S. Burns, who hurled it against the wheels of a freight car several yards away and in an instant there was a great report.

The freight car, coal laden, went up in the air about three feet and came down off the tracks. Four windows in the tower house dropped out and the crash of glass could be heard from all points.

Several burglaries have been committed around this part of the state during the past year and it is believed the explosive was left under the carhouse for future use by some of the crackmen. Near the bottle was found a copper cup, also used by safe crackers. Towerman Burns was not hurt by the explosion, although he was shaken up considerably.

SERIOUS FALL

Of An Insurance Man On Coburn St.

Mr. J. B. G. Martin, a well known insurance agent residing at 124 Genon avenue, was the victim of a painful accident last night while out collecting on his insurance policies. He was walking through a small and dimly lighted alley in the neighborhood of Coburn street and fell through an open bulkhead into which coal was being emptied. He hit his breast against the side of the trap as he fell, the blow rendering him unconscious. He also severely bruised his right leg.

Luckily Mr. Martin was with a companion when the accident happened, Mr. Picard, also an insurance man, being his companion. Mr. Picard, with the help of passersby, rescued Mr. Martin from his position and summoned a hack, in which he was removed to his home, 124 Genon avenue.

Dr. Bellehumer was called and found that Mr. Martin had no bones broken, but that the blow upon his chest was likely to keep him laid up for some time.

TOOK LAUDANUM

Mr. Maurice Hannifin Wanted to Sleep

AND NARROWLY ESCAPED A LONG ONE

Life Saved by Prompt Medical Treatment

Old ward two came near losing a good straight democratic vote and a lively man around a caucus, last night when Maurice Hannifin, aged 40 years, took an overdose of laudanum by mistake.

Maurice was trying to induce sleep and he came within an ace of inducing the sleep that knows no waking. Only the prompt and strenuous efforts of Officers McCann and Keefe, Dr. Forster H. Smith and a stomach pump kept him on earth for the state election.

Hannifin lives at 41 Adams street and last night about 7 o'clock went through the kitchen toward his sleeping apartment carrying two bottles. As he had been taking laudanum to induce sleep his wife paid no attention to the bottles but some time later when she heard him groaning in his room she ran out of the house and meeting Officers O'Keefe and McCann summoned them to the house telling them that something must have happened her husband.

Upon entering the bed room they found Hannifin lying on the bed fully dressed and groaning fiercely while his face assumed a ghastly hue. Officer O'Keefe ran to the office of Dr. Forster H. Smith while Officer McCann remained with Hannifin and kept him alive by means of artificial respiration. Dr. Smith applied two emetics but neither was successful. Then the ambulance was summoned and Hannifin was hurried to the Lowell hospital where the stomach pump was speedily applied and in a few minutes he had thrown off the poisonous stuff and had begun to recover. In an hour he was able to get on his feet again and the officers on recommendation of the doctors walked him up and down the street for a time and then turned him over to his brother and a friend who gave him a quick walk up the boulevard and back, returning about 11 o'clock with Maurice fully recovered and ready to sleep at a moment's notice without the use of knockout drops.

Some of the neighbors were of the opinion that Maurice had tried to shuffle off the mortal coil as he had been out of work for a few weeks. But Maurice emphatically denies this and states that he has not been working on account of illness and being troubled with insomnia had been taking laudanum to induce sleep. Dr. Smith states that judging from the effect of the poison on Maurice he must have taken it before. Furthermore, Maurice is too good a democrat to get out of the way a week before election.

BADLY HURT

FOOTBALL PLAYER IN A PRECARIOUS CONDITION.

FORT ETHAN ALLEN, Vt., Oct. 31.—Corp Donovan, Co. D, 5th U. S. Infantry, of Plattsburg barracks, N. Y., captain of the football team of that garrison, is confined to the hospital here, and his condition is precarious as a result of injuries received in the game between the team of this post and Plattsburg barracks Saturday afternoon.

Near the end of the game, Donovan was under the heap, and struck a rut in the ground. He picked himself up and continued the game through. As the cheer was going up for the Ethan Allen team winning, Donovan fell to the ground unconscious.

He was picked up and carried to the post hospital on a stretcher, where an examination showed that he had received internal injuries. He was unconscious all day Sunday, and last evening his condition was but slightly improved.

He has a strong constitution, and it is on this hope alone that the surgeons expect to save his life.

CHELMSFORD

The marriage of Mr. Alfred E. Adams to Miss M. Elsie Reade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Reade, took place last evening at the home of the bride's parents in Chelmsford and was one of the prettiest home weddings of the season.

The ceremony was performed in the parlor, which was adorned with laurel, evergreen and beautiful chrysanthemums and the officiating clergyman was Rev. C. H. Ellis of the Central Baptist church.

As the bridal party entered the parlor the soft strains of Lohengrin were heard and the bridal music was played by Edward Everett Adams of Lowell, an uncle of the bride, who also rendered Mendelssohn's wedding march at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Miss Louise Adams, a cousin of the bride, was bridemaid and Mr. Ervin A. Adams, of Whitinsville, Mass., brother of the groom, was best men. The bride and her bridemaid were gowned in white organdie, the bride carrying bride roses and Miss Adams pink and white carnations.

Three little girls charmingly attired enhanced the beauty of the scene, little Elizabeth and Elinor Ward and Mary McKenzie. Refreshments were served, and selections given through the evening by the Adams orchestra.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Adams of Whitinsville, Mass., parents of the groom; Mrs. D. H. McKenzie of Linwood, Mass. Mrs. H. L. Reynolds of Lowell; Mr. J. B. Adams, sisters and brother of the groom, and Mr. Wallace Byam, of North Hampton.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams left early in the evening upon their wedding journey, and on their return will reside at their newly furnished home, at 29 Doane street, Lowell.

Messrs. Ralph Adams and George Secton leave Lowell tonight on the 9.10 train for Victoria, B. C.

Tomorrow being All Saints' day there will be a service at All Saints church at 10 a. m.

The members of All Saints guild will enjoy a harvest home supper Saturday evening, Nov. 4, and at 3 o'clock in the afternoon there will be an entertainment for the children of the Sunday school.

WAITING FOR NATHAN

that of his sweetheart. Nathan kept quiet, Kimeo said, because he hoped that the body was not that of Miss Geary.

Nathan's story of having last seen the murdered girl at the subway station at Boylston and Tremont streets, Boston, on the night of Sept. 9th, is borne out by several members of the company. He had been constantly with the company and returned to Boston twice and made a visit to Providence, R. I., in search of the girl.

Miss Eleanor Barron, who was the room-mate of Miss Geary last season and a close friend of hers, said last night:

"I last saw Miss Geary talking to Nathan and Rita Marie at the top of the stairs of the subway station at Boylston and Tremont streets. I did not stop to talk to them as it was about 11.30 o'clock and I was hurrying home. I live in Boston and was at home while the company was there. I never suspected that anything was wrong with Miss Geary until yesterday. I understood that she was home ill with a cold and that she had given up the company.

"I remember leaving her at Hartford when the company broke up last year and also of her joining the company this year. We did not go about together this year as we did last season. Nathan was the only member of the company with whom she went out. Miss Geary was of quiet disposition. She was not ill to my knowledge. All I know of her since last seeing her is what was contained in the note which said she was ill."

The members of the company still believe Nathan innocent of murder and will aid him in every way possible.

GIRL'S MOTHER

GIVES ADDITIONAL INFORMATION TO THE POLICE.

BOSTON, Oct. 31—With the state and city police making every effort to locate the person who is believed to have caused the death of Susan Geary of Cambridge, the victim of the celebrated suit case tragedy, it was believed last night that the case had entered upon its last stage and that an arrest would be made soon.

While the police last night refused to discuss the latest developments of the case of the physician who performed the operation that caused the death of Miss Geary or Ethel Darrell as she was known by the members of "The Shepherd King" company to which she belonged, it was believed that this physician would soon be located by the officers.

Last night Mrs. Catherine Geary and Miss Evelyn Geary, mother and sister of the dead girl were summoned to the office of Supt. of Police William H. Pierce for an extended conference. While nothing was given out at police headquarters regarding the nature of last night's conference, it was learned from other sources that Mrs. Geary and her daughter Evelyn under right questioning had given the authorities additional information regarding the circumstances immediately preceding Susan Geary's disappearance.

Acting under the information elicited from Morris Nathan, the lover of the dead girl and a member of "The Shepherd King" theatrical company by the Pittsburg police, Boston police detectives yesterday searched the Tremont street office of a woman physician who has advertised extensively in the newspapers. The proprietress of the establishment was not present and one of her assistants whom the police are particularly desirous of locating was also absent. The records and accounts were carefully scrutinized by the officers, but it is understood that nothing of an incriminating nature was found.

Although Nathan's attorney in Pittsburg is reported to have declared emphatically that his client would resist all attempt at extradition, the prisoner's brother yesterday stated that he was sure Nathan would gladly return to Massachusetts to clear himself of the grave charge that is hanging over him.

It is generally believed here that Nathan was not directly implicated in the operation that resulted in Miss Geary's death but it is thought that he is in possession of facts that would lead to the conviction of the guilty parties.

Two officers, one representing the Boston police department and one detailed by the Massachusetts district police left for Pittsburg yesterday to bring Nathan back to this city.

THE POLICE

SECURED LETTERS IN MRS. GEARY'S HOME.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Captain P. F. Hurley of the Cambridge police department paid a visit to Mrs. Geary yesterday afternoon and got hold of some letters and other information which are interesting to the police of Boston. Two of the letters and a dispatch were from Morris Nathan, and one of the letters was written by Mrs. Geary to him, but for a reason which is not explained this letter was not mailed.

This unmailed letter, which Mrs. Geary says she wrote to Nathan, is dated "Saturday, 1 p. m." while in her story at police headquarters last night she says that she didn't know until Saturday night, after she had seen the pictures of the rings in the evening papers, that it was her daughter's body which had been found in the suit case.

In chronological order the correspondence which Captain Hurley secured from Mrs. Geary was as follows:

A letter addressed to "Mrs. C. Geary," on the letter head of the Narragansett hotel, Providence, follows:

"Friday, Sept. 28, '05.

"My Dear Mrs. Geary—Just a few lines to let you know I got back O. K. I have not heard anything yet. I don't know what I shall do but I will try and do the best I can for your sake. Inclosed find a letter for Ethel I thought it best to send it to you I will come to Boston next Thursday Write to me and asked me to sent her trunk and wig and money.

"Nothing more to write so I'll close let me hear from you soon.

"Yours faithfully

"Morris."

The next is a letter on the letter paper of the Pittsburg hotel, 6th avenue and Grant street, Pittsburg, as follows:

"Oct. 27, 1905.

"My Dear Mrs. Geary—I have sent Ethel will (wig) by the Adams Express Co. Inclosed find express bill in case you don't get it. Go to express office with this and they can trace it if Lost. I put it in a big Card Board Box, I see in today's papers where they found the arms and legs of that body are the rings on finge anything like those Ethel wore before she went Away. I am almost crazy I can hardly stand.

"If description of rings are like the same Ethel wore sent me a del letter as I am wild as she only had three rings I will try and be brave to the last but you know how much I am worrying. No more to write to write now hoping to hear from you at once I remain

"Yours faithfully,

"Morris."

LETTER NOT MAILED.

The next exhibit in possession of Captain Hurley is an express receipt showing that on Oct. 28, 1905, Morris W. Nathan sent through the Adams Express company to Mrs. C. Geary of Cambridge, Mass., one package valued at $50. The charges paid were 30 cents. The agent for the company at Pittsburg who received the package was one Kirwen or Kernan.

There is also a telegram received from Pittsburg in answer to one sent Saturday by the Gearys telling Nathan to come. It is as follows:

"Oct. 28, '05.

Dated Pittsburg, Pa.

"To Eveline Geary.

(Hoy get answer).

"685 Main street.

"Your telegram saying come at once received. Why. Wire full particulars immediately. Morris Nathan."

Instead of wiring as Nathan requested, Mrs. Geary wrote the following letter, but it was not sent for some reason:

"Dear Friend Maurice—I hope you will come as soon as you get this letter. As you are not working you can come and not be in a hurry back. Come at any cost as soon as you get this, even if it be in the middle of the night, and come right over to the house the first thing. Be sure and ask Mr. Brown for the doctor's certificate. Don't forget it. Bring that certificate without fail. I will expect you some time tonight or in the morning early, as Evelyn and I would like to have you go around with us. Keep up courage; it is hard, I know. Evelyn is almost prostrated over the news in the Boston morning papers. She is convinced now, sad indeed, Maurice, sad to tell you, but I am sure you will stand by our little Ethel even in death, Maurice.

"Hurry, hurry, hurry, for God's sake. I would like to see you before I would go to identify Ethel's remains. O, Maurice, stand by us in this terrible affliction. Come right away.

"Ethel's Mother."

"Goodbye.

"Say nothing to the girls. Bring the wig."

THE CHRISTIAN

Successful First Night at the Academy

STOCK COMPANY SCORES AGAIN

Artistic Presentation of a Famous Play

"The Christian," dramatized from the book of the same name by Hall Caine, was presented by the Huntington-De Deyn stock company at the Academy of Music last night before a record breaking audience of "first nighters." Some of the skeptical patrons of the house who thought that the drama would be too much for the company were very agreeably disappointed for despite the fact that it is the most powerful production ever undertaken by the company a grand success was scored and Severin De Deyn and Miss Isabel Fletcher won fresh laurels in their respective roles.

Almost everyone has read the fine work of Hall Caine and many have seen "The Christian" produced. It portrays a pretty story of the stage and the church and has been endorsed throughout the world by the press, pulpit and public.

The prologue is laid about the Isle of Man where John Storm and Glory Quayle were playmates and lovers, but there was a big barrier between them—poverty and wealth. Storm, with wealth at his command, studied for parliament where his father had strong hopes of seeing his son one of the leading lights, but John preferred the monastery and as a result was cut off without a penny. On the other hand, Glory went to London where she became a nurse and later took to the stage. Buoyed on by her success and the laudatory praises of her admirers she was headed on the road to degradation, when Storm, now an Episcopalian clergyman, finds her and asks her to give up her life and join him in working among the slums and poor districts of the big city teaching practical Christianity.

She refuses, however, and sees little of Storm until as a result of her grand success and the inadequacy of the theatre in which she is playing compels her manager and friends to seize the property in the rear of the theatre, the church conducted by Father Storm. After a stormy time on his part with his parishioners and a troubled conscience and love for Storm on the part of Glory, she leaves the footlights and casts her lot with Storm to be his wife and helpmate.

The part of "John Storm" as taken by Mr. Severin De Deyn is one which few actors care to tackle for many have made a failure of it, but the audience last night was unanimous in the opinion that the author could not have picked a better man to play the part. His wonderful self-control, fine voice and ability to meet the requirements in all critical stages of the play won for him vociferous applause.

Miss Isabel Fletcher as "Glory Quayle" played in her usual excellent manner, and week after week nothing but honest praise can be given to the work of this talented actress. The situations which Miss Fletcher appeared in last night were very emotional and trying to say the least, and the one word excellent will probably describe her acting as well as though columns were written.

The scenes between Mr. De Deyn and Miss Fletcher in the different acts when he was trying to have her leave the stage and join him worked the audience to a high tension. Miss Fletcher was so versatile that in one scene she kept the audience convulsed with laughter while in another handkerchiefs were resorted to by the audience.

"Our Sully" was a fine "Father Lamplugh," his avoirdupois assisting him greatly in portraying the part. The scene in which "Father Lamplugh" hears the denunciation of "John Storm" and moves toward the door in silence kept the audience in suspense until he had left the stage, fearing to disturb the climax by their applause, but the moment he disappeared his excellent work was loudly applauded.

Mr. Frank Whittier had the dual role of "Parson Quayle" and "The manager of Glory Quayle" to portray. In the former his fine dialect assisted him greatly in carrying out the part while as the manager his appearance and sayings were enough to convulse the audience. His entrance on the stage was a signal for many laughs and applause. Mr. Thomas Walsh as the "Faro King," an English cad "doncher know," with his inimitable laugh also assisted in furnishing comedy. Alexander Caden played "Lord Robert Ure," an arch-villain and foe of chastity, was very good and rendered his part in a very commendable manner.

The part of "Polly Love" was taken by Miss Estelle and that charming little miss, while playing a part different in character from that to which she is accustomed, showed that while her forte lies in the comic roles she can assume the emotional also with almost equal success. Miss Marie Curtis and Miss Grace Clarke were good as "Betty" and "Nettie." Miss Amy Ince as "Mrs. Callendar" was fine as usual and her portrayal of the prim old lady was laughable to say the least.

Howard Russell as "Horatio Drake," displayed his part in a very advantageous and highly praiseworthy manner as is his custom. Corliss Giles as "Lord Storm," Windsor Daggett as "Arch-deacon Wealthy" and Donald Meek as "Brother Paul" assisted greatly in supporting the more prominent characters.

This fine drawing card "The Christian" should prove to be the means of packing the houses at every performance. Performance will be given every evening this week as well as Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Saturday afternoons.

Groton People Had a Very Narrow Escape

A bad accident was narrowly averted at the railroad crossing in Chelmsford Centre this forenoon at about 11.30 o'clock when a passenger train smashed into an automobile in which a man and two women were riding.

The automobilists came from Groton and they had barely time to jump before the train struck the automobile.

The occupants of the automobile were attempting to turn the automobile on the crossing one of the wheels got stuck between the planking and the rail and was in that position when the train came along.

The occupants of the automobile were startled by the train's whistle and left the machine in an attempt to free it from the tracks.

NATHAN HAS FEVER

Accused Man Is Practically a Physical Wreck

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—The condition of Morris Nathan, the young man in custody here, charged with complicity in the Winthrop dress suit case mystery, is serious. He has a high fever and is practically a physical wreck. Inspector W. J. McGarr of the Boston police and State Inspector Silas P. Smith arrived in this city shortly after 7 o'clock. Accompanied by Supt. of Detectives McQuade, the officers were immediately taken to Nathan's cell. Up to 11 o'clock the Boston authorities were still examining Nathan and nothing could be learned. It is known that Nathan is in a bad physical condition and a Pittsburg officer, who saw Nathan this morning, said:

"The young fellow has a high fever and looks pretty bad. If the officers don't watch themselves he will die on their hands."

Supt. of Police Wallace said this morning that a watch was put over Nathan last night.

"He is in an extremely nervous condition," said Supt. Wallace, "and might harm himself."

Arrangements are being made to have all the members of the "Shepherd King" theatrical company at the Central station today. They will be questioned as to what they know of Nathan and Miss Geary while both were in the company. A telegram was received by Supt. McQuade from Mark Nathan, a brother of Morris, in which he asked if he was needed in Pittsburg. Supt. McQuade asked Morris if he wanted his brother to come here and the prisoner said, "Tell him no. I will be in Boston shortly."

Little credence is placed by Supt. of Detectives McQuade in the report that members of the "Shepherd King" company know much more concerning Miss Geary's fate than they have told. Kimeo, Wright Lorimer's Japanese valet, and stage director, Sam Forrest, both close friends of Nathan, have been frank in the statements they have made to detectives. The authorities are satisfied that the truth has been told.

Nathan's despondency since his arrest is regarded as important by the police officials and they are concentrating their efforts to learn just what caused it and also to ascertain Miss Geary's physical condition, when she was last seen in the company of the prisoner, that they may determine whether his connection with the case extends beyond the mere fact of getting her medical assistance.

The Boston officials were closeted with Nathan until after 12 o'clock and with the Pittsburg police officials immediately began the examination of the members of the "Shepherd King" company. Stage Director Samuel Forrest was called first. The other members are awaiting their turns. The Boston officials refused to say anything as to any disclosures Nathan may have made.

CAME LONG WAY

To Make Trouble for His People

AL. ROBINSON CAME FROM NOVA SCOTIA

And Threatened to Kill His Family

Alexander Robinson came here from Nova Scotia, only two days ago, to locate his wife, he said, but the police believe that he had a deeper and dastardly motive in view in coming here to find her.

Robinson is a big man, well dressed, of middle age and is said to be well to do in Nova Scotia. He appeared very nervous and excitable in police court when tried on charges of drunkenness and threatening his son-in-law, William A. Dow of Liberty street.

Dow testified that early last evening Robinson came to his house and began kicking on the door and threatening to kill him and everyone in the house if the door was not opened. Dow, becoming frightened, put out the lights in the house and watched him through the window.

Arthur S. Wright who lives in the same house testified that Robinson, who was reeling drunk, came to the house and kicked on the door, beat on the window, threatened to throw poison at his son-in-law if he could get him and demanding that he see his daughter. The witness led him out of the house and Officer Tansey arrested him.

Mrs. Robinson and Mrs. Dow, the wife and daughter of the prisoner, were in court and were called by the government. Robinson eyed them wildly as they walked by him. The wife declined to testify but Mrs. Dow testified that she had been forced to leave home in Nova Scotia four years ago because her father was drunk most of the time and had threatened to cut her throat. A few months after she came to this city her mother and 13-year-old sister came here because they could not live with the head of the family and all had lived together in this city ever since and had not seen their father until last night when he came around threatening to kill them all.

Robinson took the stand and said that he hadn't drunk for eight months. He said he came here to locate his wife and did not threaten any one. He said he never met the neighbor who led him out of the house though he was talking with him when Officer Tansey made the arrest. He was fined $3 for drunkenness and placed under $100 bonds to keep the peace for six months.

STATE FARM CANDIDATES.

Albert LeFortune, James F. Gaffney and Patrick Kane each received a sentence to the state farm. The two latter appealed. Louis Sergerio was found not guilty of assaulting Ida Jolin and was discharged.

PAWNED FAMILY ALBUM.

Adolphus Tremblay was so mean when drunk that he took the family album and "hocked" it. His wife said that she followed him on the street and he struck her and threatened to break her nose. She said furthermore, that her husband preferred to hum around than go to work. He was fined $5 and was placed under $100 bonds to keep the peace for six months.

TRIED TO ESCAPE

Lieut. Train Wounded Two Chinamen

SHANGHAI, Oct. 31.—Lieut. Charles R. Train, of the American gunboat Quiros, who with his father, Rear Admiral Charles J. Train, was attacked by a mob of Chinamen outside of Nankin recently while pheasant shooting during which a Chinese woman was injured by some bird shot fired by the admiral, attempted to escape in the ensuing scuffle and wounded two Chinamen with revolver shots. Admiral Train and Lieut. Train promised to send a doctor to attend the injured woman and to compensate her for her injuries. The two officers had started to return to their ships when the woman became hysterical and a mob surrounded the Americans.

WAITING FOR NATHAN

Police Searching for Doctors in Geary Murder

MRS. CATHERINE GEARY, MOTHER OF THE MURDERED GIRL.

They Do Not Expect Nathan Before Friday—He May Cast New Light Upon the Case—Boston Woman and Two Doctors Are Sought, But No Arrests as Yet—More Letters From Mrs. Geary

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The work of the police on the suit case mystery having occupied the time far into the night, there was a period of quiet at headquarters early today.

Chief Watts and Superintendent Pierce did not appear until after 9 o'clock. Officers in touch with the case said that the case stood where it did last night.

"Do you expect to make an arrest today?" was asked.

"It is impossible to tell at this time," was the answer.

The police admit that they could readily make an arrest here if either of the two physicians whom they want could be found in the city. The question of making an arrest in another state, however, on the evidence in hand, it is understood is a delicate one and is receiving careful attention from the heads of the police department.

While Mrs. Geary, mother of Susan Geary, the victim of the tragedy, in the two exhaustive examinations to which she was subjected by the police yesterday, gave many important facts, it is understood that the authorities are impatient to get Morris Nathan, the girl's betrothed, here from Pittsburg, where he is under police detention at the request of the Boston department. Even if Nathan, whose admissions to the Pittsburg police have been of greatest value in bringing the case to its present standing, adheres to his consent to return to Boston without extradition, it is thought to be unlikely that Inspector McGarr and State Officer Smith, who left for Pittsburg yesterday, can get back here with him before Friday or Saturday.

Captain Dugan, assistant to Chief Inspector Watts, said this morning:

"I have not the slightest idea when to expect Nathan."

When asked for a word on the status of the case, Captain Dugan said:

"There are no new developments."

At 10.30 today Supt. Pierce said, he had not heard from Inspector McGarr who left here yesterday for Pittsburg, Pa., in connection with the case and possibly to bring Nathan back to Boston. The superintendent learned, however, that the inspector had arrived at Pittsburg at 6.30 o'clock this morning. At police headquarters the opinion prevailed that Nathan is very anxious to be near his family and it is thought that this will influence the young man strongly in his decision as to returning.

NATHAN HELD

BELIEVED HE CAN TELL MORE ABOUT THE CRIME.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 31.—It is the firm conviction of everyone who is in touch with the case that, while a charge of murder has been lodged against Morris Nathan, secretary to the manager of "The Shepherd King" company in connection with the Winthrop suit case mystery, he is not the principal in the affair and is held because it is believed he can throw more light on the crime than anyone else.

That the police have a complete story from Nathan telling all he knows and suspects, is not denied but, aside from a few statements that have leaked out concerning the examination, the authorities refuse to disclose the information obtained until after the arrival of the Boston officers.

The determination of whether Nathan will be requested to return to Boston is also postponed pending those officers' arrival. It is known that Nathan admitted to Superintendent of Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide and Superintendent of Police Alexander Wallace that he was intimate with Miss Geary and in his statement he implicated a woman, who, he says, conducted a maternity home in Tremont street, Boston. The Boston police were immediately notified by McQuaide and they started out in search of the woman.

When they have arrested the woman who conducted the place where Miss Geary went for treatment, the police believe that the mystery would be cleared and the people to blame for the murder of the girl brought to trial.

Nathan stated to the police officials that he was not aware of the girl's condition. He declared that they were to have been married. He said he overheard a conversation between Miss Geary and two girls who were appearing at the Parks in Hartford in which one of the girls advised Miss Geary to go to the Tremont street house for treatment. Nathan said he was not responsible for Miss Geary's going to a hospital.

That the crime was done by a woman is the belief of the police officials. No hardened criminal, they say, would have disposed of the body by cutting it up and packing it in a suit case and then allowing the case to float.

Furthermore the leaving of the rings on the fingers is an indication that the crime was committed by a person unaccustomed to crime. The rings were the tell-tale marks. The authorities appear to believe that Nathan was unaware of the murder of the girl and that he had no part in that crime, but they seem to think he is responsible for her receiving treatment.

Nathan is in a very bad condition physically. For weeks he has been suffering mental anguish. He is on the verge of collapse and as he has done his part toward clearing up the mystery, is being shown every consideration. Kimeo, his Japanese friend, director of public safety Harry Moore, Manager R. A. Reinold and Stage Director Samuel Forrest visited Nathan yesterday afternoon. Attorney Charles Johnson, Pittsburg attorney for the Nixon-Zimmerman company is acting as Nathan's legal adviser, in conjunction with Attorney Burleigh.

Kimeo said yesterday that for two weeks Nathan has been worrying over the disappearance of Miss Geary. He suspected from the very time of the finding of the parts of a woman's body in the Charles river that the body was

ON AN ICY COUCH

Little Mamie McManemon of Shaffer St. Slept Outdoors

Little Mamie McManemon, a six-year-old miss, residing in Schaffer street, had a painful experience and caused her father great alarm by disappearing from home before sunrise this morning and then falling asleep on a bulkhead in a neighbor's house.

Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning a man going into the back yard of the house of Cornelius Lennon, 39 Schaffer street, was horrified at finding a little girl lying full length across a frost-covered bulkhead leading to the cellarway of the house.

Quickly picking up the little body he felt of the face and hands and finding them cold at first thought that the child was dead and with an outcry ran into the house carrying the precious little burden with him.

In the house the little one was immediately recognized as the daughter of a neighbor living a few doors away and all set about resuscitating the child. In a few moments she opened her eyes and with chattering teeth cried out: "I'm c-c-c-cold!" She was given some warm tea and in a little while was apparently none the worse for her experience. When school time came she was sufficiently recovered to attend school and when seen by a reporter of The Sun was in fine health and spirits.

A report was circulated in the neighborhood to the effect that the little girl had been out all night, being unable to get into her house but such was not the case and when her father missed her an hour after she had left the house he immediately instituted a search of the neighborhood, the little girl returning home while he was looking about the streets for her.

It seems that the little girl's mother is ill in the hospital while a woman who has been keeping house for the family was unable to remain at the house over night. The little girl imagined that the housekeeper would not return today and that she would be kept in the house today.

Her father goes out every morning at 6 o'clock to feed his horses and this morning while he was dressing the little girl quietly slipped out of the house and waited for him to go. The father believing that all the children were sound asleep in bed went out and locked the door, intending to return in an hour and awaken them.

The little girl was not out long when the cold drove her home, but upon trying to get in found the door locked against her. Then she went down to the yard of Mr. Lennon's house, bring a chum of the Lennon children and there fell asleep on the bulkhead.

Meantime the father returned and not finding the little girl in the house was filled with fear and tramped the streets for a couple of hours seeking her. He was much rejoiced at finding her none the worse for her experience.

POOR OVERSEERS

McManus Will Vote to Abolish Board

Overseers of the Poor McManus and Duff had a little run in at the office of the secretary of the overseers at the city hall this forenoon. The poor man's friend was seeking assistance for a family in a court off Lakeview avenue.

Mr. Courtney said that those in need of assistance should come to his office and Mr. McManus said that the children did not have proper clothing and were not in condition to come down town.

While the situation was being discussed by Overseer McManus and Secretary Courtney, Overseer Duff happened along and upon learning the request made by his brother overseer gave as his opinion that the request was out of the ordinary, that those in need of assistance should call at Mr. Courtney's office.

"Here, Duff," said John, 'you're not the whole shooting match; you are not the board of overseers of the poor, and I want to say that from this moment I will be in favor of abolishing the overseers of to poor.

"It is teeming with politics, and when an honest man tries to do his honest duty he is caught up by red tape. I have been the poor man's friend for years and I became an overseer of the poor because I thought I could better serve the interest of the poor. I find, however, that I can do more outside the board, when my hands are untied, and I will vote to have the board abolished."

AN INJUNCTION

Against Agents of the Bricklayers' Union

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—An injunction will be issued against the officers and agents of the Bricklayers' and Masons' Benevolent and Protective unions Nos. 3 and 27, restraining them from calling a strike of members at work on buildings constructed by the Norcross Bros. company of Worcester and Boston and vicinity under a decision given by Justice Morton of the supreme court. The unions are further to be enjoined from interfering by threats or force with men desirous of continuing in the service of the Norcross company or from interference or combining to interfere with the enlargement of the concern's business.

Judge Morton finds that the business agents of the unions went beyond the lawful limits in calling a strike as did the men in quitting work, because their object was to force the concern to make and set certain arches by manual labor instead of by machinery.

CASE DISMISSED

Simeon Legasse Cleared of Two Charges

The case of Simeon Legasse, charged with larceny and fraudulently obtaining a signature to a discharge of a mortgage, was resumed in police court this morning, the defence being put in today.

The defendant, Simeon Legasse, was the first witness and he testified that he had lived in Lowell since 1883. He had a family "of only seven children," he said.

Speaking of his methods of doing business he said: "I had an agreement with the Hildreth heirs whereby I had a right to build on any of their land. When the building was partially along I would borrow money on it and would then take up the deed on the land. This work has been going on four years on that basis and in that manner I have bought 76 lots. I have done business in that manner with Hiram Whitney, the John Boyle estate and the Washington bank and Mr. Manning. On Dec. 13, 1904, I went to Mr. Manning about the house in Dalton street. The house was about two-thirds finished.

"I asked Mr. Manning for a loan of $4000. Mr. Manning looked at the house and said he didn't have the amount of money I wished. At this same time I was building a cottage which other parties wanted to buy; but I wouldn't sell as I wanted to include it in the other mortgage. I got the deed and presented it to Mr. Rivet. Later Mr. Rivet said the loan papers were ready and I signed the mortgage and note supposing they were written for $2440, the amount I needed in order to secure the deed. I left the papers with Mr. Rivet without looking at them as there was no money coming to me, the extra money going for the land. When Mr. Hamel told me that the mortgage was only for $1650, and that the deed had not been taken out I told him that it must have been a mistake and I looked up the deed. Then I found that the mortgage was for only $1650 instead of $2440. I then went up to Mr. Hamel and offered to pay off the mortgage held by Mr. Canning, but Mr. Hamel saw fit to get a warrant out for my arrest. In all other cases the man granting the mortgage issued the additional money to secure the indebtedness for the land. There is no other mortgage out on the house. I have been ready to pay the mortgage since discovering the mistake."

"Are you ready to pay now?" interjected Mr. Harvey.

"I'm ready now," said Mr. Legasse.

"Will you pay us here in open court?" asked Mr. Harvey.

"Yes, if you'll acknowledge the mistake and dismiss the complaint," said Lawyer Hogan.

"We'll take the money and go no further," said Mr. Harvey.

"We'll proceed with the case," said Judge Hadley.

Mr. Harvey then cross-examined Mr. Legasse to show his previous occupation and the amount of money he had when starting in the real estate business. Mr. Legasse said that he had been a clerk for Cook & Taylor in the crockery business and in the coal and wood business. When he went into the real estate business he had $3000 which he kept at home in a drawer.

"Did you have that money when you went into bankruptcy?"

"I did not."

"Mr. Manning had a great deal of confidence in you, didn't he?"

"He did."

"When did you discover that Mr. Manning was lax in his methods?"

"When he sued me for $20,000."

"When you signed that mortgage you mean to tell his honor that you did not look it over?"

"I was hurried and placed confidence in Mr. Rivet."

"When you have raised money on a mortgage haven't you had the deed ready?"

"No."

"I borrowed $500 from Mr. Whitney and I signed the mortgage note without looking at it," added Mr. Legasse.

"At the time you signed that mortgage didn't you know what notes he was to give you credit on?"

"No, not until later."

"Didn't you tell him what notes you wanted credit on?"

"He asked me to tell him what notes."

"When you and Mr. Manning figured up the $1650, as the amount of the mortgage what was said?"

"I said that the whole amount was $2440 and he said 'all right.'"

"Why didn't you take the money left over and pay Mrs. Abbott for the land?"

"Because there was no money coming and I never took the money and paid for the land, they did that."

"Who did you think was going to pay it?"

"I relied on Mr. Manning or Mr. Rivet. That was the custom."

"Did you tell Mr. Manning to pay Mrs. Abbott?"

"Mr. Manning wasn't there. I signed the mortgage in Mr. Rivet's office and I supposed that he understood that he was to pay for the deed."

"Why didn't you take up that deed in your own name when you discovered your mistake?"

"I had a party who wanted to buy the property and by having the deed transferred I could raise the money to take up the mortgage."

"Give me the name and address of the party?"

"I can't just now, but I can get it for you."

"Did you get an assignment of a mortgage for $450 some months ago?"

"Yes."

"How much did you pay Mr. Manning?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

This question precipitated a lively discussion, Mr. Hogan objecting on the ground that the question deals with another matter, now involving a suit in another court. Mr. Harvey claimed that the question was not connected with the suit but was put in to show the intent of the defendant in a series of transactions, tending to dupe the complainant, the purpose being to show the defendant's intent in this particular transaction.

The discussion waxed hot and when the court finally admitted the question Mr. Hogan claimed that he was being unfairly treated and wanted to go on record as such. Mr. Harvey repeated the question and again Mr. Hogan objected and after another lengthy argument the question was abandoned.

"Did you ever offer to pay Mr. Manning that $1650?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

"I offered the money to his counsel," replied Mr. Legasse.

"Will you pay us back now?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

"Yes sir," said Mr. Legasse.

"Give me the money," said Mr. Harvey, pushing out his hand.

"My counsel will give it to you," said Mr. Legasse.

"Where is it?" asked Lawyer Harvey.

Mr. Hogan quickly pulled out a certified check for $1650 which he flashed in Mr. Harvey's face saying: "Now you've been making demands for the money, there it is. You may have it as soon as the defendant is found not guilty and discharged."

Then followed a consultation of Mr. Manning's lawyers with the result that the money was turned over and the complaints discharged.

NATHAN WAS GAY

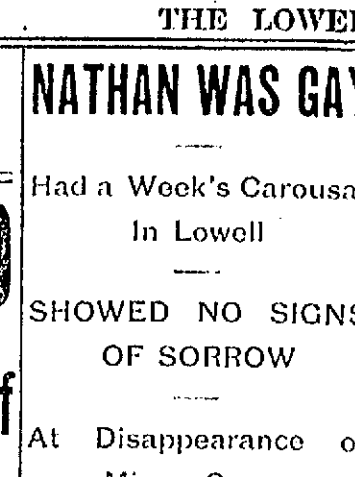
Had a Week's Carousal In Lowell

SHOWED NO SIGNS OF SORROW

At Disappearance of Miss Geary

How could Morris Nathan have been so playful and light-hearted during his stay in Lowell when he knew that the girl whom he loved and had promised to marry was undergoing an operation that made even the chances of life or death?

Those whose hearts he won by his



Nathan plays the accompaniment while a lady friend sings.

cheerful ways during his stay in Lowell, are asking that question today. Those who met him and associated with him during the week that "The Shepherd King" held the boards in a local theatre, are loath to believe that he knew of the girl's condition or that he was aware of the fact that she contemplated having an operation performed.

According to the stories told by those who met him every day not an hour passed that Morris Nathan was not making merry in some way and all was innocent pleasure. He played the piano, sang, danced, whistled, told witty stories and made things pleasant for everyone with whom he came in contact.

The story of how he conducted himself at the Central house in Tyler street where he stopped during his stay in Lowell, has already appeared in The Sun, and Mrs. Blumberg, who conducts the house added to the importance of the story today by stating that Morris Nathan did not miss a meal at her house from Sunday, Sept. 10, the day on which the company arrived in Lowell, until the company left on Monday morning, Sept. 18.

Mrs. Blumberg and others in the Central house, in conversation with The Sun reporter today, put a quietus on the report that Nathan had been seen in the Billerica woods with another man on Sunday evening, Sept. 10. They declare that on that evening and on every other evening during the week that he was in Lowell, Nathan remained at home, and, as Mrs. Blumberg put it, he was so good an entertainer that the house seemed lost without him.

"He was like a boy just out of school," said Mrs. Blumberg. "He did not seem to have a care in the wide world and he was just as gentlemanly as he could be. He made things pleasant for everybody with whom he came in contact and he was generous to a fault. It does not seem that he could have been so light-hearted and so jolly had he known that his sweetheart was hovering between life and death.

"I did not know that he was engaged to Susan Geary until I read it in the papers. I believe that he said something about seeing her on the car on the Saturday night before he came to Lowell. A nicer young man than Morris Nathan never entered this house and I am sorry for him. His good nature was not put on, it was natural; he was bubbling over with it, and any one with a disposition like that if they had trouble they would show it.

"The last Sunday night he was here he took my little daughter May and Kinsco, Wright Lorimer's servant, to the Academy of Music to see the moving pictures. There was nothing selfish about Morris Nathan. He was forever trying to do something to make others happy."

Nathan was just as popular with the chorus girls as he was with those he met at the boarding house. It was said that he was especially "chummy" with Rita Marie, but that statement, too, was wet blanketed by Mrs. Blumberg and others with whom The Sun reporter talked at the Central house today. They said he was friendly with them all, but that so far as they knew he did not play favorites. Others, however, declare that Nathan and Rita Marie were in the habit of having heart-to-heart talks and that they often talked for an hour at a time in the street.

Nathan, besides acting as secretary to the manager and looking after baggage, sold books of the play, passing them around through the audience, and after each sale it was noticed that he would show his money to Rita Marie, evidently reporting the amount of his sales to her. There are none however, who will say that the actions of the pair were in any way improper. They seemed to be fast friends, that was all.

Often times behind the scenes and before and after the performance Nathan would dance with the chorus girls. If a girl seemed to be out of sorts Nathan would bend his efforts to brighten things for her, and it is said of him that he seldom failed. He was not a very brilliant fellow but a cheerful companion.

Frederick B. Emerson met Nathan every day during the latter's stay in Lowell. Speaking of Nathan, Emerson said:

"I had occasion to see him many times every day of the week the 'Shepherd King' company was in town. He was just breaking into the theatrical business, and was a sort of messenger boy for the traveling manager, H. A. Reinold. Mr. Reinold thought a great deal of Nathan, often remarking on his brightness, and he frequently said that the boy would 'make good' in the theatrical business.

Nathan selling books of the Shepherd King at the theatre.

If Nathan knew that Susan Geary, his betrothed was in trouble and acted as he did while here, it only showed that he cared nothing for her. If he was the cause of her trouble the fact proved him doubly conscienceless and hard hearted.

Late yesterday afternoon it was reported that the missing head of Susan Geary had been buried in the woods between the Centre and North Billerica. The report stirred the police of Billerica and they searched the woods until midnight in company with a couple of newspapermen who lent a susceptible ear to the story.

Another report was to the effect that Nathan while in Lowell received a special delivery letter from Boston after the "Shepherd King" company reached Lowell. It was discovered, however, that the letter was directed to the leading actor of the company.

IN LOWELL

CAMBRIDGE POLICE LOOK FOR DEVELOPMENTS IN GEARY CASE.

The Cambridge police, by reasoning not yet made clear in public print, are endeavoring to centre the Winthrop suit case in Lowell. Certain members of the Boston police force are also of the opinion that the operation and the mutilation were done in Lowell. Suspicion as yet does not point to any Lowell physician and the local police do not believe that the crime was committed here, and they do not believe that Susan Geary was in Lowell during the time of her trouble.

Lowell is not mentioned in the confession made by Nathan, and because of the fact that the suit cases were bought in Boston it is believed that the crime was committed there.

Chief Inspector Hurley of Cambridge has registered the belief that when the mystery has been solved it will be found that the operation was performed in Lowell and that the body was mutilated and put into the suit cases in this city.

SUPERIOR COURT

Another Damage Suit On Trial Today

The case of John J. Newell against the Inhabitants of the Town of Billerica, and Newell against the Boston & Northern Street Railway company, were called for trial this morning at the opening of the civil session of the superior court, Judge Holmes presiding, now sitting at the local court house. The ad damnum named in each case is $10,000. Mr. Forrest Collier appears for the plaintiff while the town is represented by Mr. Frederick H. Fisher and the railroad by Richardsons Trull & Wier.

Both cases come as the result of an accident which happened in Billerica on Feb. 14th of this year. The plaintiff, according to the declaration, was in the employ of the town at the time, and had been for a number of years previous, and on this day, was driving a six-horse road scraper, clearing the snow from the streets, which had been piled up by the snow plow operating on the electric railway. That while in the exercise of due care and in the performance of his duty an electric car struck some part of the plow, threw him off, his back striking the blade of the plow, and as a result of the accident suffered serious injury and was put to considerable expense for medicine and medical aid as well as loss of employment.

The plaintiff claims that the servants of the railroad were not in the exercise of due care; neither was a servant of the town who was on the scraper at the time and was in charge, also that there was a defect in the scraper.

The jury then adjourned to the court yard where an inspection of the scraper was made.

The first witness called was John J. Newell, the plaintiff, who testified in part as follows:

"I reside at 41 Bartlett street, Lowell, having been there about two months. On the day of the accident, Feb. 14, of this year, I was in the employ of the town of Billerica. I was in the employ of the town about 12 years." Witness then went on to tell his experience with horses, driving single horses, pairs, four, six and eight horses. Continuing, he said: "I drove the road scraper for several years. There were six horses on the machine. It was a very cold morning and I wore a sheepskin vest and coat and fur overcoat, a scotch cap and felt shoes. The roadway was icy in some places while it was soft in other places. I was breaking the ridge of snow thrown out by the snow plow. The snow sloped down towards the track.

"We started out at 6.30 o'clock and it was 9 o'clock when the accident happened. Some times when a heavy pressure was brought to bear on the knife the scraper would slew. Charlie Morris was on the rear end of the scraper. He told where me to go and told me when to 'gee' and 'haw'. Sometimes I have operated the machine while Morris drove the horses, but I generally drove the horses and he worked the machine.

"Coming over the Fordway bridge that morning the scraper began to slew. I was keeping the horses as much to the left as possible so as to keep out of the car tracks. Just after I got off the bridge the car struck the scraper. I do not know what part of the car struck the scraper.

ROUGH VOYAGE

President's Arrival Delayed by Storm

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 31.—After fighting a northeast gale up the coast for 24 hours the fierceness of the wind and sea causing a wide divergence from the usual route, the armored cruiser West Virginia, bearing President Roosevelt from New Orleans, passed in Cape Henry last night convoyed by the armored cruisers Maryland, Pennsylvania and Colorado.

Owing to the choppy sea that prevailed off Cape Henry and in Lynn Haven inlet, the plan to transship President Roosevelt from the West Virginia to the dispatch boat Dolphin for the remainder of his journey to Washington was abandoned long before the squadron reached the capes. Early in the afternoon Admiral Brownson communicated with the Cape Henry station by wireless telegraph and instructed that a pilot for the Maryland waters be ready to board the West Virginia off the cape at 7 o'clock last night. The admiral expected his squadron would reach the entrance to the Chespeake by that time but the heavy wind and sea prevented the vessels from coming in until half past nine.

Then it was announced by wireless that the president would transfer to the Dolphin off Smith's Point at the mouth of the Potomac river. The Dolphin had started up the bay for this point several hours before.

About half past eight o'clock the searchlights of the approaching warships could be seen on the horizon from the Cape Henry observation station and an hour later the outlines of the cruisers were discernible. All four were in column, but during the earlier part of the day the Colorado had been separated from the other ships in the storm, and efforts to reach her by wireless were unsuccessful for some time.

No stop was made at Cape Henry. The vessels passed into the bay and took the bay channel which runs to the north from the course into Hampton Roads. All during the day the West Virginia had been in communication with the Cape Henry station, about forty messages being exchanged.

The voyage of the squadron from the South Carolina coast to the Capes was a rough one. The northeast gale pitched up a nasty sea and off Hatteras the waves were running dangerously high, but while no fears were entertained for vessels of the West Virginia's class, it was evidently deemed wiser to give the treacherous shoals in that vicinity a wide sweep and the cruisers went out to sea. This caused the delay of the presidential squadron reaching the capes on schedule time.

President Roosevelt has transferred to the U. S. dispatch boat Dolphin and aboard that vessel left Wolf Trap light on the last leg of his journey to Washington at 12.40 o'clock this morning. He is scheduled to reach Washington today. The following despatch was received at the Washington navy yard early this morning:

"Navy Yard, Washington: Please inform the navy department that the Dolphin with the president aboard left Wolf Trap light at 12.40 a. m. and should arrive at the navy yard at Washington beween 10 a. m. and 11 a. m. today.

(Signed) "GIBBONS."

JUDGE MAHONEY

Replies to Interview by Col. Sweeney

HE SAYS STATEMENT IS FALSE

New Rule for Issuance of Warrants

LAWRENCE, Oct. 31—Judge Mahoney yesterday addressed the officials, lawyers, newspapermen and spectators present with the following statement regarding the interview with him made public by Col. John P. Sweeney. He describes the interview as "maliciously false in what it said, as in what it omitted to say." In reply, the court made a new rule to the effect that hereafter all persons desiring warrants must make their application to Clerk Moyes, reserving for them an appeal to the bench.

The statement of Judge Mahoney was as follows:

"My attention was called yesterday to an alleged interview between a member of the bar and myself which was published in one of the public prints. The proprieties of this position and the limitations of it prevent me from replying to it as I could if I were otherwise situated. I am going to dismiss the matter by saying that it is maliciously false in what it said, as in what it omitted to say; it reflects more faithfully the conditions of the writer's mind than the facts. To prevent the repetition of this thing, I am going to establish a new rule. Hereafter counsel desiring to make a complaint or secure a warrant must come directly to Mr. Moyes. Mr. Moyes has had sufficient experience as a lawyer to qualify him to deal with them in a competent manner. If counsel desire to appeal from Mr. Moyes' decision, they may and will be heard here in open court and behind closed doors. If they wish an ex parte hearing, they will present the facts to me in the presence of the clerk and the court officer. I regret to have to enforce this rule because there may be some inconvenience, and I want to say that so far as the other members of the bar are concerned, there has been no occasion for this as their treatment of me has been uniformly courteous and fair."

"There are two reasons why I am glad this interview came up. There was a false impression in the minds of the public after Mr. Sweeney finished his argument in the blackmailing cases that he referred to a certain person, intending the court. The court did not so understand him, and had it so, it would have reprimanded him then and there. That, the gentleman has retracted in private. At the close of the blackmail trial, there was a wicked and malicious story circulated that on the fifth day of September, I, in the presence of others met Libbey at Canobie Lake, and rode to Lawrence in a public conveyance with him and that a photograph was in existence establishing the fact. The great impropriety of such a voluntary meeting and the intended injury must appeal to all. It is a fact, however, that on the twenty-first day of August, after the close of an hour's work on some real estate, I met Mr. Libbey in company with a dozen others and I am of the opinion that most of us rode in the same electric car.

"The fact that days or weeks before the warrant against Libbey I met him, neither militated against nor for him in the trial of the first case in which he was acquitted, nor did it in the second case, when he was convicted; nor should it. The position of magistrate is one full of embarrassment. It is all hypocrisy to talk of the trial justice not knowing some of the facts of a case before it comes to trial. Every time counsel comes in here and asks for a warrant, he must disclose to the clerk and myself what his facts are. In contemplation of law, a man occupying my position must not only investigate facts before a complaint issues, but sit in judgment afterwards. This is especially true in cases beyond the jurisdiction of this court.

"This is the last time that I shall on or off the bench recognize in any way any oral or written reference to the court. If comments oral or written are made which in contemplation of law are improper, they will be dealt with in the manner provided by statute."

SIGNAL SERVICE

Detail System Not Up to Standard

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—General A. W. Greeley, chief signal officer of the army, in his annual report does not speak encouragingly of the detail system which he says he has loyally endeavored to carry out for the past three years. "As volunteers have failed conscription was necessary in the case of the sixteen officers, already detailed (in the Signal Corps) of whom fully one-fourth have endeavored to evade service through personal or political influence," says General Greeley and adds:

"It is suggested that the entire commissioned force of the army excluding the permanent technical corps, be arranged in one lineal district below the grade of brigadier general. Through a system of annual retirement a suitable flow of promotion and elimination by retirement as is done in the navy, of officers incompetent, either morally or professionally, would then be practicable and thus materially improve the service. Distinguished services could then be rewarded without marked discrimination against equally competent officers who have not had opportunities through advancement by files, the recipient being an extra number confirmed by the senate."

General Greeley says the gradients hour's notice, the Signal Corps can furnish all equipment necessary for 1,000 miles of communication. Studies of war in South Africa and Manchuria have shown deficiencies in the American army only in connection with the fire control of field artillery. Direct telegraphic communication is now established with five military posts in Alaska. The commercial business has netted $100,000 during the past year and it is estimated will be increased to $200,000 annually. The submarine cables of Southeastern Alaska are 2300 miles long.

General Greeley says the graduates of ocean depths were found most abrupt instead of gradual as was indicated by existent soundings.

Speaking of the wireless work in Alaska between Nome and St. Michael, General Greeley says:

"This is the only long wireless telegraph system in the world. It is believed that it is regularly operated as a part of a telegraph system handling commercial business. On Aug. 6, 1904, it completed a year of uninterrupted service over its course of 107 miles. It has handled daily and interruptedly the entire telegraphic business of Nome and the Seward peninsula which, together with the official business averages several thousand words daily.

More than a million words were sent during the year, many thousand being commercial code words in which no error has ever been traced to this section. In a single hour there have been transmitted over this section 2,000 words without error or repetition. Captain Wildman was retained at Nome throughout an Arctic winter to insure continuity of operation and the successful training of the enlisted force."

During the year there were 134,630 messages besides considerable free official business. General Greeley says:

"It was deemed proper to relieve the isolation of Alaskan life by furnishing daily the approved news bulletin to each military post and station and by granting a strictly limited use of the line in intercommunication of social subjects between the different military stations."

SUIT CASES GONE

Were Property of a Lowell Man

Shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon Charles E. Hart of 201 Moore street, Lowell, reported to the police of Arlington that his two dress suit cases had been stolen from the rear platform of an electric car.

Hart left Lowell on the 3:30 p. m. car from this city over the Lexington & Boston street railway. When he boarded the car he placed two red leather dress suit cases on the rear platform. Then he went inside the car and sat down.

When the car reached Billerica a change of conductors and motormen is made and while the car was standing in the Centre awaiting the change, Hart looked into the rear vestibule to see if his suit cases were there. He found them to be safe and settled himself in his seat again.

At Arlington Centre he wished to transfer to a Cambridge car and when he went to the rear platform his suit cases were gone.

He at once informed the Arlington police, who notified the police of the towns through which the car passed.

The two cases contained nothing but wearing apparel. No one can be found who saw the suit cases being taken from the car.

THE BOSTON MARKET.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—The buoyancy of the New York list was reflected in the early trading today in the local market. Trading was brisk in specialties, though in general there was only a fair volume of business. North Butte was the strong feature, advancing to 55¾ up 1. Boston Consolidated attracted considerable attention and Arcadian was in better demand with transactions of 2100 shares in the first half hour's trading between 5 and 5⅜. In the loan group there was a light borrowing demand for coppers, except Amalgamated in which there appears a moderate sized short interest. On the curb 400 superior copper sold at 17½ to 17¾. 375 Nevada Consolidated at 6½ a ¾. 50 Pittsburg and Duluth at 27¾. 100 Mexico Consolidated at 11. 150 Utah Apex at 4⅝ and 100 Arizona commercial at 22.

ROYAL ARCANUM

Temporary Injunction Has Been Dissolved

NEW YORK, Oct 31. Justice Maddox, in the supreme court in Brooklyn yesterday, dissolved the injunction restraining the supreme council of the Royal Arcanum from suspending James Mock for refusing to pay his assessments according to the new rates, but the justice expressly stated that he did so only on the promise of counsel for both sides that they would bring the case to trial on November 20. Justice Maddox said he was actuated by a desire to protect the interests of the widows and orphans of the dead members, and declined a permanent injunction because it would have the effect of tying up the funds of the order.

WONDERS BEATEN

In a Phenomenal Game Last Night

The Connemaras made it five straight last night when they defeated the Wonders by a margin of 240 pins on Les Miserables' alleys. The followers of Sergt. Connors are weekly demonstrating the fact that the Wonders have no license to play with them and a report was current last night to the effect that hereafter the Connemaras will allow the Wonders to have a sixth man on their time in order that the game may be closer.

At no stage of the game were the Wonders in the running and they saw defeat in big black letters staring them in the face from the time the first ball was rolled down the alley. The Connemaras started off at an easy gait though in order to try to make the game some way close, but seeing that their adversaries did not appreciate their kind work they started to rub it in and succeeded in doing a fine job.

Peters of the winning team was the particular shining light of the evening, while Burt Ryan and McKay came in for second and third honors. Alex Duncan was sadly out of the running but when he and Tom Atkinson went to a restaurant after the game and settled for the lunch, it looks as though there may have been some method in Alex's low score. Deputy Welch, the wonderful Wonder, was low man, his first string of 84 being due to the fact that he had forgotten his muscle oil. But for the fact that Martin Maher had his bicycle with him and used a little lubricating oil on the stiffened member the deputy would not have been able to pull through the game.

The following score tells how the Wonders, once mighty, were trampled upon by the Connemaras:

HORSE RAN AWAY

Five Persons Were Badly Injured

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Five more persons were injured in a runaway accident in Scollay square today. A cab containing Senator Edward B. Callender, one of the republican candidates for mayor of Boston, and John Allerby was passing through the square, when the harness on the horse parted and the animal becoming frightened bolted down Court street. Allerby jumped out of the vehicle and was badly cut about the head. Callender, who remained in the carriage, escaped uninjured. In its dash the horse knocked down a woman and ran over a man, the latter being seriously hurt. Two other persons who were crossing Court street were also slightly injured.

Among the injured was Jeremiah Mahoney, of South Boston, a business man, who was riding in his carriage, when the running horse struck his vehicle. The carriage was partly demolished and Mahoney was thrown out, being bruised and cut. After the accident Mr. Callender was taken home. He found that he was badly shaken up. The others injured were Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. McCarthy of Gardner, Me., who were bruised; Charles Murray of this city, whose leg was injured by being run over and Thomas A. Simpson of South Boston, the driver of the cab who received contusions about the head and shoulders. John A. Allerby who was in the cab with Mr. Gallagher was the most seriously injured of all.

When he jumped from the vehicle he struck on his head and received a lacerated wound and many contusions. It is believed he will recover. Mr. Allerby is a broker and a resident of Dorchester.

PRISON HEARING

Girl Makes Charges Against Mary Rogers

GERTRUDE KIMBALL HELD THE KEYS

That Opened Door of Women's Cells

BELLOWS FALLS, Vt., Oct. 31—The prison investigation hearing which reopened here yesterday developed some extremely sensational incidents. The full board were present, Gov. Bell being in attendance, and his promised disclosures are well under way.

It is understood that at the hearing today further sensational charges will be brought up. Further disclosures in relation to the Mary Rogers scandal were laid over until today's session.

Mr. Oakes was put on the stand and was examined by Atty.-Gen Fitts.

Q.—How did Miss Rogers get possession of the scissors which she used in opening the locks of her cell? A.—She was in solitary then, and was doing some writing and wanted to cut some paper. She asked me for some shears. I told her I hadn't any, and couldn't allow her to have any. Mr. Flint, who was one of the guards, was present, and he had a small pair of pocket scissors with blunt points. He said she could have those if I was willing. Nothing more was said, but later she had them. Whether he gave them to her or not I do not know.

Q.—Do you think that was safe? A.—I didn't think anything more about the scissors.

E. H. Harpin, ex-warden of the prison, who gave his testimony at the beginning of the investigation, was cross-examined yesterday morning by Judge Palmer, counsel for E. W. Oakes, who began by asking if Harpin went to the prison with the implied understanding that he would some time be made superintendent.

A.—That was suggested to me.

In speaking of the matter of the witness' disapproval of a male guard for Mrs. Rogers in her death watch, when Mr. Oakes said Mrs. Meeker had a male guard, and Mrs. Rogers should. Harpin said that Mrs. Meeker was no comparison, for she was deaf, old and hideous-looking. Judge Palmer asked: "What do you mean by no comparison between the two?"

"Why, I call Mrs. Meeker a safe woman to be left with."

"You consider a woman like Mrs. Rogers to be in danger of improper relations with a man placed over her?"

"Why, I think there is more danger than to the other."

The next witness was Miss Gertrude Kimball. She said she was 18 years of age and had entered the prison May 2, 1904, as assistant to the matron, Miss Durkee, who was her aunt. Her duties were table work part of the time, and she also had charge of the female prisoners, unlocking and locking them up. No one else had the keys but herself. Miss Kimball's room was on the second floor above the guard room. On the first floor was her aunt's room and several of the guards' rooms. She testified that she knew E. L. Burr. He is a married man and roomed on the first floor with a guard named Peasley. Burr made advances to her, resulting in intimacy, which continued until his discharge. This began not long after she first went there.

She said that she became quite intimate with Mary Rogers and told her some things though not about her private matters. The witness knew of Mrs. Rogers having correspondence with L. E. Peasley, Burr's room mate, and had seen some of their letters which were of the nature of love letters. She said she knew Peasley was a married man. She never told any one of the letters. Miss Kimball said the letters indicated improper relations. At one time she picked up a letter on tissue paper which she showed to her aunt. There was not enough there to make out what the contents were. Witness said she told Mrs. Rogers of it, because she worried it out of her. She confessed that the Rogers woman had an influence over her she could hardly explain, but her influence didn't have anything to do with her relations to Burr. Mrs. Rogers told her what took place in the west wing with Vernon Rogers. After Burr was discharged she had the keys of the women's department just the same. Witness said Craven told of the Vernon Rogers affair and evidently knew of it while it was going on.

Horace Boyd was also put on the stand again. He said Burr told him he had incurred medicine expenses of $100 on the girl's account. He said Burr bragged about what he had done and was very communicative about it.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 31.—In a head-on collision of freight trains, last evening, on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad at Casey, Iowa, four trainmen and Rev. F. W. Caldwell of Van Metre, Iowa, were killed. Both trains were much damaged and the locomotives were reduced to scrap iron. Rev. Caldwell was riding in a caboose on a stockman's pass.

LIVE IN CAVE

STRANGE HOME OF A YOUNG COUPLE.

NORTH ATTLEBORO, Conn., Oct. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harrington were found living in a small cave in a a sand pile at New Boston. Dr. George K. Roberts had been called from Attleboro and reported the case to the overseers of the poor, who found the sand dugout just large enough for sleeping apartments. At the entrance there was a cover of an express wagon, just large enough to break the force of a storm. In front of the cave in the open was a cook stove.

Mr. Harrington is about 34 years of age and his wife about 30. He has declined any offer of pecuniary assistance and is quoted by the overseers as saying that people should live according to their means, and he and his wife were doing so.

$4000 AWARD

WOMAN RECOVERS FROM BOSTON ELEVATED ROAD.

BOSTON, Oct. 31—Mrs. Louise Cloutier, born Desillier, was given a verdict of $4000 for personal injuries, and her father, Jeremie Desillier, another for $500 for the loss of her services against the Boston Elevated Railway company, before Judge Richardson, in the second jury session of the superior court, yesterday. She was on a car in Cambridge on July 20, 1900, when an accident happened which caused a panic. In the excitement she either fell or jumped off the sustaining internal injuries. A previous trial resulted in a disagreement. Between that trial and the present one, she married. Her suit was for $15,000, and her father's for $5000.

A REPRIEVE

WAS GRANTED ON THE EVE OF EXECUTION.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 31.—Frank Sherrie, who was to be hanged this morning, has been reprieved by Gov. Henry Roberts until Jan. 9, 1906. Sherrie was convicted of the murder of Mrs. Ludwika Kulas a Polish boarding house keeper in Somerville, Jan. 6, and was sentenced May 5. All arrangements had been completed at the state prison today and Sherrie was resigned to his fate.

How Many Rooms Do You Heat?

You say you try to heat part of your house but even that part is not really comfortable in the coldest weather.

Why don't you abolish those stoves or that furnace that gives such poor satisfaction and are so dirty? In place of those old style contrivances put in a hot water or steam boiler and know what it is to have plenty of heat and less dirt and fuss.

The heater that will work as you want it and when you want it is the

Built upon the right lines, giving the greatest amount of heat with the least amount of fuel and bother. The CRAWFORD established a record for itself last winter that should make you want to own one and now is the time for you to say the word.

NO MORE STRIKES

Fall River Mill Men and Operatives Reach Agreement

FALL RIVER, Oct. 31.—After a conference that lasted from 2.30 yesterday afternoon until 6.45, an agreement was signed by the representatives of the textile council and the Manufacturers' association which undoubtedly will avert the threatened strike of the cotton mill operatives. The agreement is a compromise between the margin basis claimed by the operatives and that fixed by the manufacturers in the profit-sharing proposition offered Oct. 16.

The agreement is as follows:

It is agreed between the representatives of the operatives and the manufacturers that 18 cents per cut be made the basis of wages, with a margin of 72½ cents between the cost of eight pounds of middling upland cotton (New York quotation) and the selling value of 45 yards of 28-inch 64x64 print cloth or 33.11 yards of 38½-inch 64x64, with a division of profits on any additional margin above 72½ cents, as stated by the manufacturers in their reply to the secretary of the textile council, dated Oct. 16, 1905.

The above to take effect dating from Oct. 23, 1905. Margin to be computed weekly. No change in minimum shall be made before Oct. 1, 1906.

WHAT OPERATIVES GET.

The effect of this compromise is to give the operatives a flat advance of about 4 percent, with 1 percent additional when the margin is 72½ cents, and 1 percent more for each 1 cent of margin above 72½ cents up to 85 cents, and ½ percent more for each 1 cent of margin above 85 cents.

The manufacturers also yesterday made some other concessions or modifications of the original proposition, one of these being the fixing of the margin weekly instead of monthly, which will avoid misunderstanding and, be more satisfactory to the help.

Another concession which will be looked upon favorably by the operatives is the agreement not to change the minimum wage before Oct. 1, 1906.

The question of reducing wages if the margin should fall below the minimum fixed has been used as an argument against the acceptance of the original proposition.

The agreement reached is looked on as a compromise, each side conceding about the same amount on the main proposition.

Representatives of each side in discussing the matter after the meeting, appeared to be satisfied that the wage question had been settled.

Sec. Taylor of the textile council said that the agreement was satisfactory to the representatives of the textile unions and they had agreed to urge the unions to adopt it.

END OF GREAT STRIKES.

The agreement means, in all probability, the end of great strikes in this city on the question of wages. The operatives have for years contended for a 70-cent margin on which to base a sliding scale, while the manufacturers have held out for a margin of 75 cents.

In the last general strike the labor leaders were willing to split the difference, but the manufacturers would not yield. In fact, even when Gov. Douglas set the figure at 74.36 cents, the manufacturers refused to be governed by this, and in their proposition several weeks ago stood by the 75-cent margin.

The agreement, therefore, may be regarded as an important victory for the operatives, who, although they have not obtained the margin figure they believed should prevail, have secured one lower than it was thought the manufacturers would ever concede.

The margin yesterday is 77 cents, which means an increase of a little less than 9 percent for the operatives. A week ago the margin was 83 cents. This margin constantly fluctuates, but with the present prospect of good trade the agreement should bring to the operatives on an average more money than a return of the 12½ percent reduction of July 25, 1904.

REJOICING IN THE CITY.

The news of the agreement has caused general rejoicing throughout the city. Hundreds of operatives who had gone away are now expected to return, as the agreement guarantees that wages shall not go below the present rate for one year, and in the margin as fixed there is bright promise for the future.

The conference of yesterday was brought about by Mayor Coughlin and the Retail Merchants' association. The manufacturers' committee at the conference consisted of Nathaniel B. Borden, Simon B. Chase, Thomas L. Brayton, David A. Brayton, C. C. Rounseville, W. F. Shove and George H. Hills.

The several unions will meet Wednesday night to act on the agreement. There is scarcely any question that it will be ratified almost unanimously.

It is thought that the compromise agreement will be adopted by mills elsewhere which follow the Fall River schedule.

CROWDED HOUSE

SAW PIECE CALLED THE VILEST OF PLAYS.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—"The Hit" was lifted by Arnold Daly and "the limit" of stage indecency reached last night in the Garrick theatre, in the performance of one of George Bernard Shaw's "unpleasant comedies" called "Mrs. Warren's Profession"—a profession, by the way, which is the occupation of a certain class of female harpies.

"The limit of indecency" may seem pretty strong words, but they are justified by the fact that the play is morally rotten. It makes no difference that some of the lines may have been omitted and others toned down—there was superabundance of foulness left. The story whole of the play, the atmosphere surrounding it, the incidents, the personalities of the characters are wholly immoral and degenerate.

The play is an insult to decency because it defends immorality, it glorifies prostitution, it besmirches the sacredness of a clergyman's calling, it pictures children and parents living in calm observance of most unholy relations.

It marks the acme of theatrical infamy in New York if not throughout the country.

FATAL LEAP

WOMAN DESERTED BY HUSBAND, DRIVEN TO DESPAIR.

BOSTON, Oct. 31.—Driven to despair because her husband had left her, Margaret Smith, 29 years old, a striking blonde with classic features, attempted self-destruction yesterday morning when she jumped from a four story window at the Hotel Chapman, 97 Compton street, to the sidewalk, a distance of about 45 feet.

Bleeding profusely and feebly uttering that she "would kill herself" the slight figure was picked up by Patrolman Tangney of station 4 and carried into the hallway.

There is a dispensary in the hotel, so a physician was on the scene almost immediately.

He ordered the woman to be taken right away to the city hospital, where her name was placed on the dangerous list. She is in a very critical condition and no hope is entertained for her recovery. Her spine is fractured and both legs are broken.

THE MIKADO

RECEIVED MEMBERS OF THE DIPLOMATIC CORPS.

TOKIO, Oct. 31—The members of the diplomatic corps, having requested an audience for the purpose of presenting felicitations on the conclusion of peace, the Mikado received them this morning and afterward invited them to luncheon together with the imperial princes, ministers of state and Baron Komura's suite. The action of the Mikado in inviting the diplomatic corps to luncheon on other than a state occasion, is without precedent.

BOLD ADDRESS BY BISHOP SANDERSON

He Favors Organization of Auxiliary Boards

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—Like a thunder storm after the slow winds of a sultry day the Rt. Rev. Charles Palmer Sanderson, bishop of Chicago diocese of the Episcopal church, followed a half dozen routine speakers at the Layman's forward movement banquet at the Auditorium last night with a bold address, proposing changes in the church.

He stated that one of the purposes which he had in mind when he began work on the plan for the present Chicago conference of clergy and laity was that of "clearing the air" in the relations between the general board of missions and the fifth district, which includes the states of the old northwest territory.

"The relations between the board of missions and the fifth district have in the past been strained," said the bishop. "The way to clear the atmosphere is to discover the germs of incompatability and to destroy them.

"Ever since Bishop Chase, the first bishop of Ohio, went east as an ambassador and representative of his district and was opposed by Hobart, there has been a mutual distrust between the two sections of the country. The New Yorker refers, and will continue to do so, to the 'wild west' while we of the fifth district are inclined to turn up our noses at the 'Effete east.'

"Now, the trouble is not ecclesiastic and it is not geographical. The trouble is more elusive. It is caused by the daring spirit that led to the reformation and the same spirit that gave birth to the American nation.

"The representative of the east may assert that Chicago is not a colony, that there is no taxation and that there is representation. That is as true in theory as it is untrue in practice. The fifth district wants to be a real, vital integral part of the board of missions, just as every other district should be.

"For the accomplishment of this end there must be in every district some local authoritative organization that is vitally identified with the general board."

The bishop then launched a proposal which in short aimed at a change in the canons of the church and asked that canon 52, section 12, which provides that the general board be authorized to promote missionary organizations throughout the country, be changed to read that auxiliary boards may be organized in every district that shall be subordinate to the general board, but shall have power to conduct missionary work, spread the propaganda, raise money and elect a representative, upon the general board. The motive of the change and its result, he urged, would be, not to decentralize authority but to extend the power of the board and asserted that the middle west has stood for this point during the last twenty years and that it will be for the advantage of the districts and to the missionary work of the church.

WOMEN'S CLUB

Interesting Talk by Mrs. Clark

EFFECT OF CLUBS DISCUSSED

Rise and Progress of the Women's Club

The Middlesex Women's club, yesterday afternoon, listened to a very brilliant and very witty address on "The Effect of Women's clubs, on Domestic Life," by Mrs. Kate Upson Clark of New York. Mrs. Clark is quite prominent as a writer and also as a club woman. She spoke in part as follows:

Do not think for an instant that I intend to measure the entire effect of the club woman upon domestic life. I do not think it can be measured. But I am going to tell you what I myself have seen.

Mrs. Gilman has wittily and logically scorned domesticity, but the banishment of that effete institution, the home, is not coming in our day. How can we most efficiently banish disorder and sickness and sorrow from our homes, and make and keep them bright and interesting and useful.

Suddenly, to many of us, a score or more years ago, came the call of the club. No Mrs. Gilman had then arisen to question the authority of our sovereign, the home. What would happen to that sacred institution, if we left it to its own devices for a few hours? Various opinions prevailed. Grover Cleveland had not then turned his attention to clubs; or maybe they had perished in their infancy, under his criticisms.

"It was like voyaging on unknown seas alone; but some of us delivered the house over to the tender mercies of the cook and housemaid until we should return, and plunged boldly into the club.

One of the most revolutionary things that we heard, was that we must not make home the immediate idol of our souls; that the home was a mere tool, as it were, to a higher development. We must aim at broad culture, and expand our minds, and use our homes as we used everything else, in this uplifting process for ourselves and our families. We begin to question the established fetishes of our housekeeping. We asked each and all of the old ways, Is this reasonable and necessary? Rash vows were hard on every side, concerning short dresses and pockets. We were warned, however, against sudden and extreme revolution. There was already prejudice enough to overcome. We must not increase it.

One of our first discoveries was that people of equal and superior intelligence could honestly differ in opinion. This was in itself a great revelation. It taught us a new and a broader charity. We learned to "see large things large, and small things small."

As we go on in the right kind of club life, and learn to admire women more, the exaggeration of the sex question becomes abhorrent to us. We begin to believe with President Andrews, that there is no sex in mind, morals or occupation, and with Mrs. Gilman, that there is no feminine mind, any more than there is a feminine liver. There is no feminine way of learning that Caesar crossed the Rubicon. I do not understand how we are going to give our girls the rudiments of education, and have it done in a feminine way. Can you make a feminine grammar and arithmetic? It is ridiculous. The lessons that interest men and women are identical. This is one of the great lessons which the women's club has taught us.

It strengthens our convictions and gives courage to the faltering, to find that others are with us. We sit down to dinner, and we listen to a man. He says, "My opinion is that the less education women have, the better. I believe that women were made for the home." And you have to listen to it, and say, "Yes, indeed; and that is very beautiful." At the club, we find that others agree with us, and our timidity disappears.

Musical and art clubs are considered by most men as rather silly, but harmless. Women's reform clubs are regarded with the most suspicion. The woman reformer is the special butt of the satirist and cartoonist. The woman who joins such, takes, as it were, her social life in her hands. The woman who dares to name and to denounce the sins of society today, is often treated with an withering contempt as that which was heaped upon Lydia Maria Child.

The ordinary culture club has done more to set women thinking and to quicken their ideals, than any other single agency, in any town. Let us recall some of the definite advantages which the plain woman has gained from the club.

The club has helped to develop the sense of proportion and comparison.

We have read and studied much more than we otherwise should, under the stimulus of women's clubs; and largely on domestic topics.

We have come not only to respect women more, but to love them more. Thus a spirit of comradeship has been developed. This has extended to men, and has thus helped to arrest a false and demoralizing sex emphasis, one of the most insidious foes to the higher civilization.

DEATH SENTENCE

Will Not be Carried Out Yet

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 31—The preparations which were going on for the execution of Ghirkis Vartanian, who claims American citizenship and who was condemned to death by the criminal court at Stamboul, October 19, for the murder of Apik Ufadjian, a prominent Armenian, were suddenly stopped yesterday on the receipt of a note from the American legation, setting forth in unequivocal terms that such an act would inevitably produce serious consequences. The authorities have now notified the legation that the execution of the death sentence has been postponed, pending the settlement of the question of principle on which the legation and the Porte are now negotiating.

DR. OSWALD

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS WHILE OPERATING.

CHICAGO, Oct. 31.—While he was performing a serious operation yesterday in the Michael Rees hospital, Dr. J. W. Oswald, one of the leading surgeons on the north side was stricken by paralysis. The operating knife dropped suddenly from his hand, was picked up by an interne and given back to him, it dropped again from his nerveless fingers and then the attendants understood. They carried him from the room and another surgeon completed the operation. It is not expected that he will recover or even temporarily regain consciousness. Dr. Oswald is 42 years old.

PLAIN DUTY OF VOTERS

THIS IS A CAMPAIGN IN WHICH THE INTERESTS OF THE PLAIN PEOPLE ARE DEEPLY INVOLVED, BECAUSE THE DEMOCRACY BACKED BY A LARGE SECTION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY STANDS FOR RECIPROCITY AND TARIFF REVISION. HENRY M. WHITNEY, THE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR, PERSONALLY REPRESENTS THE RECIPROCITY IDEA, HIS OPPONENT, EBEN S. DRAPER, THE OPPOSITE. MASSACHUSETTS BUSINESS MEN HAVE AGAIN AND AGAIN DEMANDED RELIEF FROM THE TARIFF BURDENS WHICH ARE PARALYZING THE BUSINESS AND COMMERCIAL INTERESTS OF THE NEW ENGLAND STATES BY A TARIFF ON HIDES, ON LUMBER, ON COAL, AND BY UNREASONABLE RESTRICTIONS ON TRADE WITH CANADA, THEIR NEXT DOOR NEIGHBOR.

THE ELECTION OF BARTLETT AND WHITNEY UNDER THE CIRCUMSTANCES, WOULD BE REGARDED AS A FATAL BREAK IN THE REPUBLICAN STRONGHOLD OF MASSACHUSETTS AND WOULD ASSUREDLY HASTEN THE RELIEF SOUGHT. LOWELL HAS SUFFERED IN COMMON WITH OTHER CITIES FROM THE UNJUST TARIFF BURDENS AND HENCE IT IS THE DUTY OF EVERY CITIZEN TO VOTE THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET ON NOVEMBER 7.

VICTORY MEANS A BUILDING BOOM FROM CHEAPER LUMBER, CHEAPER SHOES FROM FREE HIDES, THE RECOVERY OF CANADIAN TRADE THAT NOW GOES TO OTHER COUNTRIES AND THE INAUGURATION OF A NEW ERA OF PROSPERITY FOR MASSACHUSETTS. IT IS AN ECONOMIC CRISIS THAT SHOULD BE MET WITH INTELLIGENT ACTION BY EVERY CITIZEN.

The greater part of the present session of the superior court has been taken up with suits for damages. Judging from some of the cases already tried almost any one might have foreseen the result. There must be some evidence of carelessness or mismanagement before any jury will grant a verdict for damages.

Miss Alice Roosevelt denies the rumor that she is engaged to Congressman Long orth or anybody else. It would hardly look right for Alice to enter into an engagement on a tour of the world and without consulting her parents in the matter. Indeed the proposal of the Sultan of Sulu may have been the only proposition she received on her trip.

DON'T LET THIS OPPORTUNITY PASS.

The peculiar form of our government makes a change in federal laws a very slow process. Some questions may be agitated, argued and discussed for twenty years before any practical steps are taken for a change. The money question was agitated in this country from 1872 and until a few years ago there was no action that could be regarded as a settlement. The tariff question has been under agitation very much longer and at the present time there is as great a demand for a change as ever existed in this country.

Especially is this demand heard with most emphasis in Massachusetts and other New England states where industry is in a degree paralyzed by the tariff on hides, coal and wood pulp and by unreasonable and injurious restrictions upon trade with Canada. The present state campaign is conducted wholly upon national issues. The Dingley law discriminates against Massachusetts, especially in the tariff on hides, on coal, on lumber and wood pulp.

On account of her proximity to Canada and the large number of shoe shops within her borders, Massachusetts suffers more than any other state in the union from the tariff on hides and from the restrictions on trade with Canada.

This state alone produces one half of the factory and custom shoes produced in the United States and more than four times as much as any other state. The total product of the 645 shoe shops of Massachusetts is $150,000,000 annually.

Governor Douglas, one of the largest shoe manufacturers of the state, asserts that for free hides and free sole leather he would willingly relinquish the 25 per cent. tariff on shoes. With these advantages, he says he could meet the competition of the world in the manufacture of shoes.

This would mean the command of the world's market and a great increase in the number of factories in this state and throughout the country.

Who would be injured by the removal of the tariff on hides? Who, but the beef trust which was instrumental in having the duty placed in the Dingley law through the effect of a powerful lobby? Under such circumstances there should be no question about the removal of the tariff on hides. It is a matter upon which all political parties should be of one mind.

The tariff on lumber prevents Canadian lumber from coming in here and as a result the cost of lumber is so high that it retards building enterprise and causes our natural forests to be cut down to supply even the limited demand.

What is the remedy? Admit Canadian lumber free. This change is a necessity to the progress of New England. To delay it will do incalculable injury in raising rents, in having our New England hills denuded of their forests to supply wood pulp. We have to pay freight from Michigan or the south just because the Dingley law imposes a tariff on lumber.

The coming election will have a strong bearing on all these questions. Any vote above the normal democratic strength will be counted as a protest against the present system and in favor of the change proposed—to free raw material and reciprocity with Canada.

It is the duty of republicans in the interest of Massachusetts industries to vote against their party in this election because unless the party be rebuked by defeat or a greatly reduced majority, the republican bosses such as Lodge and other upholders of the trusts will refuse to favor any change in the tariff.

Let the voice of Massachusetts be heard on the 8th of November and the desired relief will come in free raw material and in some form of reciprocal trade relations with Canada. Do not let this opportunity pass as the right kind of a protest now may prevent long years of delay with their further depression of Massachusetts industries.

SEEN AND HEARD

Each day the snowy white or dull black fleeces of 35,000 sheep are converted into yarn or fine woolen cloth in the huge structure, extending over acres of land, known as the Arlington mills, in Lawrence, the largest of its kind in the United States.

Thirty-five thousand sheep, enough to cover nearly 10 acres of pasture if packed so close as to just allow breathing space; enough sheep to overflow Boston common and the Public Garden; enough sheep to devour all the grass in Franklin park within a few days. That is what 35,000 sheep means; a herd so large that to the eye it would look like a billowy, tumultuous, heaving ocean, completely covered with a frothing white foam.

The Fr. Mathew Temperance society of North Billerica will celebrate its 18th anniversary one week from Saturday night in Talbot Memorial hall. There will be a banquet at 6 o'clock and at 8 o'clock there will be a concert followed by dancing. The speakers at the banquet will be Rev. Lawrence J. Tighe, O. M. I., Edward F. Slattery, "father" of the society, ex-Alderman James O'Sullivan, Treasurer Clark of the Talbot mills, John V. Donoghue, president of the Mathews of Lowell, Mayor Casey and Chairman Charles H. Kohlrausch of the Billerica selectmen. President Twomey of the North Billerica society will be toastmaster.

Roast pig dinners have become quite a fad now. Every Sunday different groups of young men assemble in different places to enjoy the suckling and swap stories. Last Sunday the genial John Billingsley had eight of his friends as guests and they got away with a twenty-two pounder and all the "fixins." More than that each received a souvenir in the shape of a briar pipe and then as a finisher Mr. Billingsley himself was remembered by his guests with several gifts, including a beautiful picture and a fountain pen.

Joseph King was toastmaster and speeches were delivered by James Cudworth, Joseph Dawson. There were duets by Henry O'Brien and Joe O'Brien; Frank O'Hare did a buck and wing dance, and the well known black face artists Fred Halstead and Michael Sullivan, gave their latest stunt, "Roast pig is good enough for us." Patrick Whalen was heard in whistling solos and a stump speech and then the host responded to all the kind things that were said of him and expressed the hope that all would be present at the observance of his twenty-second birthday on Oct. 29, 1906.

The Royal Arcanum glee club will close its easy camp on the banks of the Concord river in Billerica next Sunday. A banquet will be held and there will be a musical program as well as several speeches. The season has been a most enjoyable one for the R. A. glee club members and their friends and during the winter plans will be made to have next season the liveliest in a social way in the history of the club.

I understand that Albert Sutcliffe of this city has been chosen to the supreme council of the Good Templars. This is in recognition of the great gain in membership made by the order in this state during his administration as chief templar.

John T. Deegan, who will come to this city tomorrow night to inspect industry council, R. A., is well known here having visited in this city on several occasions. Mr. Deegan will be accompanied by several South Boston men who are prominent in the order.

Tonight will be hallowe'en, the time when the young people play their pranks much to the annoyance of some of the older generation. If you should feel offended at some trick of the youngsters, just think that you were out for fun yourself once and hated to have the older ones interfere with or mar your pleasure.

One week more to election day and yet as a "pol" remarked yesterday, there is none of the old-time excitement that once attended a state election. Why is it, I wonder?

"Joe" McGrath was speaking a few evenings ago of circumstantial evidence and expressed the belief that many times innocent men are punished. "Why," he said, "just to illustrate my point let me relate a little story. You remember that the Barristers hall fire occurred on Sunday morning. Well, Saturday night with Lawyer O'Connor and Lawyer Hennessy I started to leave the latter's office. As we reached the door I glanced toward the safe and saw that the two large doors were swung open. I called Hennessy's attention to it, but he remarked that he guessed no one would try to break into his office. But Lawyer O'Connor advised him to lock the safe doors and he did so, though not before I had suggested to him that it would be wise to do so, 'for who can tell' I said, 'but what this place may be burned down tonight.' You can imagine my surprise when I came down town Sunday morning and found the firemen at work on the building. There was circumstantial evidence for you in case that fire started in Hennessy's office."

The parochial school children will enjoy a day of rest tomorrow, it being a holiday of obligation. The children will be required to attend the high mass at their respective parish churches and then will be dismissed for the remainder of the day.

BOYS FOUGHT

TROUBLE CAUSED BY NOTE WRITTEN BY GIRL.

MALDEN, Oct. 31.—Two boys in the freshman class of the high school had a lively set-to yesterday afternoon in a field in the rear of the old opera house, off Dartmouth street, the contention being over Marion Langell, a classmate.

During the session of school it is said that Miss Langell threw a note to Watson Hildreth and it fell into the hands of Ralph Holden. Young Hildreth took offence at Holden for taking the note, and after school the two had a dispute, which resulted in Hildreth's challenging Holden to fight it out.

The field in the rear of the opera house was selected, and nearly 50 high schools boys followed to see the contest. Both boys took off their coats and punched each other for more than 15 minutes. Both were knocked down several times, and were more or less bruised about the face and eyes. It would have been fought to a finish if Patrolmen Shaughnessy and Gray had not been seen running toward the field, causing the principals and spectators to flee.

BOXING GOSSIP

A big delegation of Lowell sports will attend the next meeting of the Unity Cycle and Social club in Lawrence on Friday evening of this week when the attraction will be Young Kenney, formerly of this city, and Willie Cornell, the Lowell lightweight who is fast coming to the front. The pair met before and Kenney received the decision, which at the time was disputed by the spectators. Since that time Cornell has improved wonderfully and has lost his amateurish ways which handicapped him somewhat in a real live go and his friends expect to see him prove himself the superior of the Lawrence boy and will back their judgment. On the other hand Kenney has taken better care of himself of late and has been in the hands of his old trainer Tommy Tully, who has made many a boxer go fast. Since returning to Tully Kenney has dropped some superfluous flesh and is in better shape than he has been in a long time. The bout should be one of the fastest and most interesting of the season. A special car will be provided for the Lowell members of the club. The Unity club is well located for out-of-town visitors as it is on the car line of both the Lowell and Haverhill cars. In addition thereto the club opens its program promptly at eight o'clock so as to give the out-of-town members ample opportunity to get the last car home. The usual number of interesting preliminaries will be presented with one or two Lowell boys in them.

A Citizen of Lowell Supplies The Information

Over half the complaints of mankind originate with the kidneys.

Twinges and shooting pains in the loins follow. They must be checked, they lead to graver complications.

The sufferer seeks relief.

Plasters are tried, and liniments for the back.

So called Kidney cures which do not cure.

The long-looked-for result seems unattainable.

If you suffer, do you want relief?

Follow the plan adopted by this Lowell citizen.

I neglected it thinking it would pass away of its own account but found that instead of so doing it increased. A friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills and induced me to give them a trial, so I went to Ellingwood & Co.'s drug store for a box. Judging from the beneficial results obtained I do not hesitate to recommend them. I know others also who have derived great benefit from this remedy."

JESSE POMEROY

AGAIN SEEKS PARDON FROM GOV. DOUGLAS.

Once more Jesse Pomeroy, life prisoner at the Charlestown state prison, has appealed to the governor for pardon. Pomeroy has written to the chief executive about three times a year for many years. In his latest letter to Gov. Douglas he does not vary the ground on which he believes executive clemency should be extended.

He sets forth again that he was very young, about 14 years, he says, when sentenced to life imprisonment. For 32 years, he adds, he has been in solitary confinement. He contends that when he was tried public sentiment was so strong and feeling ran so high that justice was affected thereby.

So he asks Gov. Douglas to refer his case to the pardon committee for hearing. There is no indication of his excellency's acquiescing.

The Kerry herd owned by Misses O'Reilly and pastured by them at Chontarf, near Dublin, are little larger than goats, and wonderful little pets. The amount of milk they give, however, is very large and it is extremely rich in cream. They were willed to these young ladies by a wealthy relative in Kerry, who took great pride in maintaining the purity of the strain of the cattle. Reserved seats for the Irish Ladies' Choir concert are now on sale at Bouiger's shoe store, 115 Central street.

GREEK CHURCH

To be Erected on Lewis Street

A new Greek Orthodox church is to be erected in Lewis street, this city. The structure is to be one which the local Greeks will feel proud of, the seating capacity to be 2000 with an amphitheatre auditorium, a school room for daily use and all the modern improvements, the total cost to be in the vicinity of $60,000.

The property was recently purchased by the Greeks and it is free from any incumbrances. It will have an auditorium with a big seating capacity, made along the usual line, with amphitheatre galleries for the women. The men alone occupy the body of the house of worship.

The basement will be used both for church and school purposes. The board of directors intend to establish a school in which the Greek girls and boys will be taught their own language. This will not interfere in any way with the public schools, for the children will still attend them to learn English and other studies.
